TWO LOST EXPLORERS ARE RESCUED

FARM-LABORITES NAMED NORRIS CANDIDATE

DEMOCRATS READY TO LAUNCH HOT CAMPAIGN

NEBRASKA SENATOR CHOSEN AS LEADER FARMER-LABOR CAUSE

NORRIS' SECRETARY STATED THE SENATOR WOULD HEAD NO THIRD PARTY

CHICAGO, July 12. (AP)—United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today had become an unwilling candidate for presidency of the United States on the farmer-labor ticket.

Despite his reported refusal to head any third party slate, the Nebraska Senator was placed in nomination at last night's session of the convention. He was chosen on the third ballot, receiving 16 votes to 14 for Norman Thomas, the socialist nominee for president.

For vice president the farmer-laborites named Will Vareen of Moultrie, Ga., a cotton mill owner.

While the farmer-labor party was going ahead with selection of standard bearers, the prohibition party, also in session here, centered discussion on platform problems. With adoption of the platform today, nominations for president and vice president were next in order.

Possibility of a merger of the prohibition party and the farmer-labor group ended last night when both vetoed the proposal.

Nomination of Vereen created a controversy in the farmer-labor camp when it was charged that he had operated a non-union plant and had never been a farmer or laboring man.

No Pro Declaration.

The platform of the farmer-laborites, adopted before nominations were made, did not make a specific declaration on the prohibition question, but declared for "an enforcement of all laws."

Norris' nomination was made after a report had been received from a correspondent, who had been directed to ascertain if the senator would accept. The reply read: "Negative absolute. Reconsideration impossible."

Other planks in the farmer-labor platform declared for farm relief with equalization fee, abolition of injunctions in labor disputes, public ownership of Boulder dam

COOLIDGES VISIT SUPERIOR ALMOST UNNOTICED TODAY

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 12.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge paid an unexpected visit to Superior today. Accustomed to seeing Mr. Coolidge come to town only on Tuesday and Fridays, the city was not on the lookout for him and he slipped to the executive offices hardly noticed.

Mrs. Coolidge had never accompanied the chief executive to Superior before. She alighted from the automobile at the offices and sat with Mr. Coolidge while he went through his correspondence and signed some papers. John Coolidge remained at Cedar Island lodge.

RAIN DAMAGES WHEAT.

PAMPA, July 12.—(AP)—More than an inch of rainfall last night damaged wheat in the plains territory surrounding Pampa. Driven by a hard wind, the rain bent much of the wheat toward the ground. The harvest, which is about half completed, will be delayed by wet fields and muddy roads.

MANY REDS DIED BY LAW'S MANDATE IN CANTON AREA

SHANGHAI, July 12.—(AP)—Of 107 Reds arrested at Canton since July 9, forty-eight have been executed. A similar fate for the others is expected. Ninety student agitators arrested at Shekiang, forty miles from Canton, have been brought to Canton for trial. There are seventeen girls among them. The execution of most of the students, perhaps all, is considered likely.

KANSAS SPECIAL SESSION.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 15.—(AP)—Governor Paulen today issued an official call for a special session of the Kansas legislature, convening Thursday, July 19, at 2 p. m., to consider submission of a road amendment to the state constitution at the November general election.

SEVEN MEN ENTER ON FINAL DAY OF LIFE IN PRISON

KENTUCKY WHOLESALE ELECTROCUTIONS SCHEDULED EARLY FRIDAY

EDDYVILLE, Ky., July 12.—(AP)—Seven men in death cells at the penitentiary here entered today upon what they expect to be their last twenty-four hours of life.

All have been sentenced to die for murder. Barring reprieves, a remote consideration, they will be electrocuted between midnight and one o'clock tomorrow morning.

Three are negroes. They will die last. The four white men, three of them little more than boys, will go to the chair first.

Two of the white men, Charles Paul Mitra, 23, St. Louis, and Orlando "Red" Seymour, 21, Louisville, blamed "evil companions" Each was convicted of murder in connection with robberies at Louisville. The third, Hascue Dockery, twenty-one, Harlan, Ky., did not deny the murder of two women and a man for which he was convicted two years ago in one of the mountain resorts. The fourth, Milford "Red" Lawson, 35, Corbin, Ky., denied the murder for which he is to die.

Of the three negroes, two refused to talk even to the chaplain. In solitary confinement, they were reported in sullen mood. The other joked about the electric chair.

Clemency Refused.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 12.—(AP)—Governor Flem D. Sampson today refused to grant executive clemency to any of the seven men condemned to die at Eddyville early tomorrow.

The edict of the governor ends whatever faint hope any of them have entertained. All are convicted murderers.

Major Political Parties Negotiate For Radio Audience

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Both major political parties are negotiating with the National Broadcasting company for nationwide hookups to carry the notification and campaign speeches of the presidential candidates to every home in the country that has a radio set.

Although officials of the radio chain were chary of giving any information, prior to conclusion of negotiations it was learned that plans are progressing rapidly and definite announcement of radio arrangements may reasonably be expected in about a week.

COLQUITT PLANS COALITION WITH REPUBLICANS TO BEAT REGULAR DEMOCRATIC SLATE

DALLAS, July 12.—(AP)—Close cooperation between Republicans and Democrats who are opposed to the election of Governor Al Smith of New York to defeat the national Democratic ticket in Texas has been promised by leaders of both groups.

Former Governor O. B. Colquitt, leader of the anti-Smith Democrats, who will hold a meeting here July 17, announced yesterday that the Republicans probably would be asked to substitute a ticket of anti-Smith presidential electors for the Republican electoral ticket. Mr. Colquitt said that presidential electors would be chosen probably at the July 17 meeting and would be instructed to vote, if elected, for Herbert Hoover, Republican, for president.

Creager Promises Aid.

R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman, said that while a full slate of Republican candidates for state offices would be put in the field the main energies of the state party would be directed toward electing Mr. Hoover and that the fullest co-operation would be given to the anti-Smith Democrats. Considerable pressure has been brought to bear on Mr. Creager and other Republican state leaders to stress the state elections as little as possible in order that the anti-Smith Democrats would not be antagonized.

To offset activities of the anti-Smith Democrats and the Republicans in Texas, a movement to bar the names of candidates for state offices who have said they will not support Governor Smith from ballots to be used in the Democratic primary, July 28, has been started and already has found its way into the state courts.

Application for a mandamus to compel the Democratic committee of Cameron county to place his name on the ballot from which it has been barred was filed by Thomas B. Love, candidate for lieutenant-governor, and late yesterday was denied by District Judge A. M. Kent. Counsel for Mr. Love, who has declared he would not vote for Governor Smith, but has not indicated for whom he would vote, immediately gave notice that the case would be appealed, and said that action on the appeal should be had tomorrow or Saturday.

The Love case is regarded as a test of the state election laws with regard to authority of county committees to bar names of insurgent Democratic candidates from the primary ballots. Should the courts hold that this is within the authority of the county committees it is expected that action against Mr. Love and other candidates who have rebelled after Smith's nomination will be taken in other counties.

More Action Ahead.

In addition to Mr. Love, Judge William Hawkins and Mrs. Edith Wilmans, candidate for governor, have announced that they will not vote for Governor Smith. Mrs. Wilmans has said she will take steps to "invalidate" tickets in counties from the Democratic ballots of which her name may be barred.

Most candidates, including Gov. Moody and United States Senator Mayfield, running for re-election, have said they will support the national ticket.

NAVY FLYING BOAT BREAKS NUMEROUS RECORDS BEFORE LANDING EARLY THURSDAY

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—Six world's records were broken today in an endurance flight by the navy flying boat XPN-12 type A-7383 carrying a load of 2,000 kilograms at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The plane, which took the air yesterday afternoon, landed at 8:38 a. m., establishing an endurance record for her type and load of 16 hours, 39 minutes, 51 2-5 seconds. The former record was 11 hours, 7 minutes, 18 seconds.

The second record broken was that for range for her type and load, covering 2150 kilometers or about 1,350 miles. The former record was 1525 kilometers or 947 miles.

The third, fourth and fifth records embraced speed for distance up to 2,000 kilometers, the plane averaging a speed of 83 miles an hour, breaking the record for carrying loads of 5000 kilograms, 1,000 kilograms and 2,000 kilograms.

The sixth record broken was that for range for a load of 1,000 kilograms, the plane traveling 2,150 kilometers against the former record of 1,000 kilograms or 2,000 kilometers, or 1247 miles.

Sets Duration Mark

Cornelius Ristiez, above, who, with Hans Zimmermann, Junkers pilot, remained continuously in the air for 65 hours 31 minutes, thus beating the Italian duration record by nearly seven hours. The two German fliers dodged severe storms throughout, remaining over Leipzig and Dessau most of the flight.

Seven Are Held For Alleged Connection With Mail Robbery

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—(AP)—Two women and five men were held by police today in connection with the $125,000 robbery of a Canadian National Railway mail car at the union station here the night of June 20. About $7,000, approximately one-third of the stolen currency, was recovered. The balance of the loot consisted of securities, the major part of which was found in an abandoned automobile two days after the robbery.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR CRASH OF PLANE CAUSING TWO DEATHS

POTTSVLILE, Pa., July 12.—(AP)—A bolt of lightning was believed to have caused the plunge of an airplane in which Morris M. Titterington, inventor of the earth inductor compass, and Mrs. Bernice Gamble Andrews, movie actress, met death.

This theory was advanced by Charles Gilbert, on whose farm the plane crashed yesterday from a height of 1,000 feet. He was the only witness to the accident. The plane was a mass of wreckage when Gilbert reached the scene and its two occupants were dead. The plane had taken off from Curtiss Field, N. Y.

Titterington, 35 years old, was an experienced aviator and vice president of the Pioneer Instrument company of Brooklyn, N. Y. His earth inductor compass was used by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in his flight to Paris and since then by other long distance fliers.

Mrs. Andrews was known as "Patricia Perry" in moving pictures in which she played extra parts in comedies. She was 23 years old and was divorced two years ago from Fred Andrews. She is survived by a son, Fred Andrews, Jr.

She had been learning to fly under Titterington's instructions, but the latter was in the pilot's seat when the crash occurred.

In Titterington's pocket were found two insurance policies for $5,000 each in which Mrs. Andrews had been named as the beneficiary. A bank book also was found for a joint account of Titterington and Mrs. Andrews.

Mrs. Andrews was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gamble of Williamsport, Pa. Her father said she and Titterington had been planning to stop at Williamsport and Dallas, Texas, on a flight to California.

Funeral at Dallas.

DALLAS, July 12.—(AP)—Funeral services for Morris M. Titterington, aeronautic engineer, who was killed in an airplane crash yesterday at Pottsville, Pa., will be held here Sunday, it was announced by his father, George A. Titterington, of this city.

Titterington was reared in Dallas.

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS.

SAN ANTONIO, July 12.—(AP)—Albert Oaten of Fort Sam Houston, was killed in an automobile accident, and Mrs. Isabel Bolton, 49, was struck and killed by a train in accidents here last night.

Bishop Decides He Can't Support Smith in Race

DALLAS, July 12.—(AP)—The Rev. John M. Moore, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a statement here today voiced his intention of voting for Herbert Hoover for president and criticised the action of the Democratic party in nominating Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

"For me as a prohibitionist of a life time to aid or endorse the election of Gov. Smith to the presidency of this country is utterly preposterous. I cannot do it," declared Bishop Moore.

SOUTHERN CROSS AMERICAN AIRMEN WELCOMED HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(AP)—With the echoes of San Francisco's boisterous welcome still ringing in their ears and with $12,000 nestling in their pockets, Capt. Harry Lyon and Radioman James Warner, American participants in the Southern Cross flight to Australia, rested on their laurels in semi-privacy today.

The welcome started yesterday when the Matson liner, Malolo, brought the airmen back to the United States. The formal aspect of the reception ended with a banquet in their honor last night. It was at this banquet that checks for $6,000 each were tendered by a representative of Mayor James Rolph, Jr. The money was raised by public subscription.

HARRY THAW HOME BOUND.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., July 12.—(AP)—Harry K. Thaw, who embarked on the Ile de France at Havre, was aboard the liner when the vessel left Plymouth for New York today, homeward bound. He expressed strong resentment against Sir William Jovnson-Hicks, home secretary, for having refused him permission to land in England.

ONLY NOTIFICATION HOLDING BACK BIG FLOOD OF ORATORY

SELECTION OF CAMPAIGN LEADERS COMPLETED IN PERFECT HARMONY

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Determination of the notification dates for its standard bearers is awaited as the spark that formally launch the democratic party into the presidential campaign.

With organization completed, the democratic camp today found itself fully repared for battle, having worked out in perfect harmony the difficult problem of selecting those to guide its destiny in the coming fray.

At a forty-five minute meeting and without a dissenting voice, John J. Raskob of Delaware, a leader in the business and industrial world, was chosen by the democratic national committee as its new chairman and he was entrusted with broad powers in mapping out plans.

Hardly had this decision been announced late yesterday before Raskob took over with a positive hand the duties of his post. In a few minutes he had appointed five vice chairmen, including two women; Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, and Mrs. Florence Farley, national committeewoman from Kansas, and designated a chairman for all of the sub-committees which will function in the campaign.

Prohibition Discussed.

Further in his speech of acceptance he brought to the forefront the questions of prohibition and farm relief as two of the issues that must be met on the voting line in the impending fight. In regard to the former he stressed the right of Governor Smith to work for a lawful change in the dry statutes which in the opinion of the party's presidential nominee would be conductive to a change for the better in the prohibition situation.

"If, as a result of careful study," the new chairman said, "he can evolve a plan for the regulation and control of the question in a way that will absolutely prevent the return of the saloon, eliminate bootlegging, with its accompanying evils—graft, corruption and murder—and restore temperate life in our country, then all fair-minded men must admit his right, if not his duty as president to promote such plan, and to advocate such changes in our laws and constitution as may be necessary for its adoption."

Would Bar Mudslinging.

This statement was greeted with a burst of applause. A few minutes before, Raskob had declared oppo-

GREAT WOOLWICH ARSENAL VISITED BY FIRE THURSDAY

LARGEST MILITARY STORES PLANT THREATENED, BUT FLAMES CONTROLLED

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—Fire today threatened a large stock of military stores in Woolwich arsenal, one of the largest establishments of its kind in the world. Fire engines from practically all parts of London rushed to the scene and the fire brigade of the garrison was turned out to help. After an hour's hard work the flames were prevented from spreading from the 200 foot storage shed on the west side of the arsenal to a huge stock of military stores nearby.

The fire started at 3 a. m., and the clanging bells of the fire fighters arriving as a result of the brigade call roused the whole neighborhood.

It was stated that none of the personnel had been injured and that employment would not be interfered with.

PHYSICIAN DIES.

NOTED SWEDISH METEOROLOGIST HAD BEEN DEAD MONTH ON ICE

(Copyright, 1928, by The Associated Press.)

ABOARD RUSSIAN ICE BREAKER KRASSIN IN ARCTIC, July 12. (AP)—Captains Alberto Mariano and Filippo Zappi, pilot and navigator of the North Pole dirigible Italia, without food for 13 days and seemingly doomed to an agonizing death, were rescued today by the powerful Russian ice breaker Krassin.

The almost unbelievable epic of their rescue was darkened by news that Dr. Finn Malmgren, noted Swedish meteorologist and leader of the little group that set out 43 days ago to bring help to the stranded crew of the Italia, had died thirty days ago.

Starving and exhausted, but still standing guard over the body of their comrade, the two Italians were taken aboard the Krassin at 7 o'clock this morning. A few minutes later the sturdy vessel turned its bow eastward to continue its rescue efforts in behalf of the Italia's men still marooned.

The full story of Dr. Malmgren's death and their own bitter suffering was told today aboard the Krassin by the two men, who had been miraculously saved. For thirteen days they had not eaten. For 30 days they had clung to the body of Dr. Malmgren in the vague hope of taking it back to civilization. They had all but resigned themselves to death on Tuesday when the Russian plane attached to the Krassin, and commanded by Pilot Chukhnovsky, sighted them and

HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION IS FORMED AT KERENS MEETING TO AID COMPLETION NO. 31

KERENS, July 12.—(Spl.)—The good roads meeting for the purpose of organizing a permanent highway association, composed of representative business men from towns along highway No. 31, including Waco and Mt. Pleasant, was held at the tabernacle here Wednesday from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock that afternoon.

The meeting was opened by T. S. Daniel, Jr., mayor of Kerens, who delivered the address of welcome. It was then turned over to Temporary Chairman Lee Jester, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Corsicana, who stated the purpose of the meeting, and then introduced Col. Charles Ousley, who is in charge of the good roads and forestry department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Henry Ross, secretary of the Kerens Chamber of Commerce was elected secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Ousley extended the services of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce to the people along highway 31, an offered his services in the way of putting over good road propositions. His address dealt with the way in which highways are builded inasmuch as local communities must cooperate with state government, and that this place an undue burden upon the property of the local community through which the highway runs. He further stated that our system of taxation which is almost entirely based upon the property tax is tending to render land valueless, or, in other words, to confiscate land through taxation.

Funds For Highways

He stated that he recommends the program sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in regard to raising funds for highway construction which is to the effect that a gasoline tax be used for construction, and maintenance of state highways. He bases this attitude upon the following principles: 1st. That users of public utilities should pay the cost of construction and maintenance of same, even as customers of light and power plants pay for the construction, upkeep and operation of the power plant and equipment. And even so with the person or persons patronizing railways. "They are helping to pay for the construction and maintenance of such means of transportation. Thus the users of the state highways should justly stand the burden of constructing and maintaining them," he said.

Mr. Ousley continued, "This will then leave local property taxes to be used for local purposes, such as lateral roads, schools, and other local expenditures."

Cone Johnson.

Col. Ousley was then followed by Cone Johnson, member of the state highway commission, who addressed the audience in a "straight from the shoulder" talk. In open-

AND BUSINESS IS IMPROVING.

The old tried and true laws of economics are now being justified in the stock market and the bullish enthusiasts who loudly proclaimed that we faced new conditions and that the old rules no longer applied are trying to dig themselves out of the wreckage. That the lesson was so long delayed may be attributed to the large margins called for by brokers who were themselves alarmed by the mania for speculation which swept the country.

While the decline in stock prices may be termed drastic, there is room for pondering what would have happened had margins been lower. The stock market broke practically every other record possible and it is probable that had small margins been the rule it would have set a new record for violence of the decline. There is no reason why the action of the stock market should be taken as an indication of business conditions. The market is not now and has not been for some time an indicator of business conditions. It was carried to unjustified heights by popular speculaton and the correction of that condition is as apt to swing too far in the other direction. Eventually it will right itself.

A great deal could be written on the course of the market in recent months. All that could be said can probably be summarized in the statement that speculation carried prices to a point where it cost more to carry stocks than they gave in return. When that condition was reached, the result was inevitable.

That has nothing to do with business in general. Business on the whole is neither better nor worse because of the market. It is improving, the market to the contrary, and the balance of the year may be viewed with confidence.

CHEAPER THAN A WORLD'S FAIR.

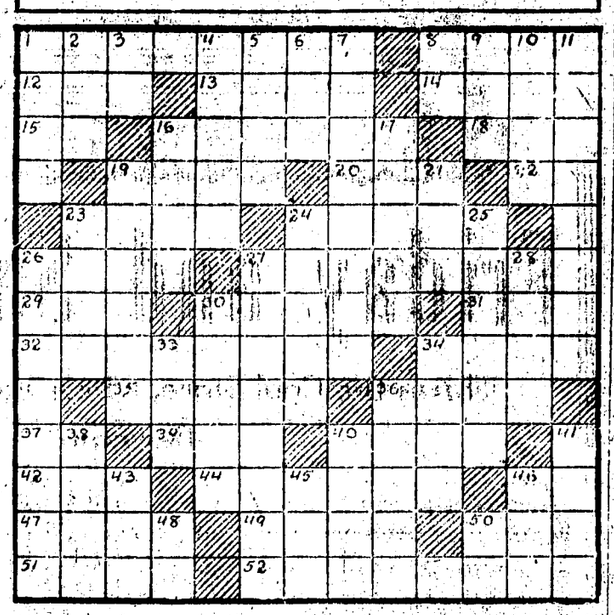

"There was less interest in Texas in the presidential nomination," says a report from Houston, "than in the question of whether all the delegates, alternates and newspaper men could be sent back home talking about Texas and the wonderful possibilities of its development."

We are realists in Texas. We know that whoever is president, Texas will continue to exist and to thrive. Texas has consistently voted the democratic ticket year after year, and has grown rich. What difference does it make to us who is president, or what party is in power? Why stew about a little affair like a ntional election?

What we want in Texas more than anything else is advertisng. We have a realm larger than any country of Europe save Russia, and while France, four-fifths her size, has some 40,000,000 inhabitants, Texas has approximately 6,000,000. To be sure, the census shows that every ten years Texas adds 800,000 people to her list. But we, in Texas, are not satisfied with that. We possess an empire and we want to be imperial. We believe in the power of advertising to make us so.

Even though Texas is a southern state we also possess the spirit of the west. We raise cotton and corn but also we raise cattle. The loyal feeling of the farmer is levened by the wider view of the ranchman. Texas is a great oil state, a great shipping state and has begun to be a great banking state. The people of Texas are awake and progressive. When Jesse Jones brought the Democratic convention to Houston, no doubt one of his chief ideas was to show off Texas to the nation, and in this endeavor he had all Texas behind him.

Why not? It's a lot cheaper than a world's fair and the results are far more satisfactory.

We feel sure that the citizens of Corsicana would appreciate a new park—or any number of new parks for that matter—but we also feel sure that the citizens of Corsicana would also greatly appreciate a little money spent in the development of the city park.

Corsicana cannot afford to be without a modern airport. This project is just a cold business proposition—money invested in the future development and growth of the city.

One of our burning problems is cheap cigars.

The political campaign—both local and national—will be warm and hotly contested. But remember the campaign will last only a few weeks and that we will all continue to live here together regardless of who is elected to any of the offices sought. Friends of long standing will view the campaign from different angles. That is the democratic right of the voter. When you become enthusiastic about your favorite candidate or pet issue pause for a moment and take into consideration one true friend is worth all the political campaigns and candidates and a true friend lost is not easily regained. Keep your temper—vote for your favorite candidate and keep in mind that the other fellow has a right to his views.

The slogan "Hoover Democrat" is a queer combination of words and somehow does not seme to fit into the picture. There are only two parties — Democratic and Republican—you have your choice—be one of the other—but for godoness sake don't try to be a combination party man.

BIG DAIRY SHOW IS IN LINE WITH TEXAS PROGRESS

Plans are going forward swiftly to make the first annual Southwestern Dairy Show, which is to be held at Dallas in connection with the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21, one of the most interesting and educational divisions of the great Exposition, according to Harry Olmsted, State Fair president.

"The directors of the Fair and the officials of the Southwestern Dairy association, filled with the desire and the purpose to aid the progress of the dairy movement which is sweeping over Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana and guided in their efforts by the sanest and most conservative dairy experts in the three states, will stage an exhibit next October which will show the best specimens of the various breeds of dairy cattle and display all of the appliances and supplies used in the most modern dairies in America," says Mr. Olmsted.

"Exhibitors from all parts of the country, knowing that the time for them to introduce their wares into a new territory is at the very beginning of a movement, when they will have a clear field therein, are writing the management for display space. Cattle associations have volunteered to have their expert demonstrators at Dallas to inform prospective dairy farmers as to the advantages of the particular breeds of cattle which they favor.

"Owners of prize herds and blooded cattle to sell, will have their best animals on exhibition at the show in competition for the prizes, which, because of the Dairy Show, will, from now on, mean more than ever before. The Southwestern Dairy Show, a recognized institution awarding prizes to dairy cattle, will, I believe, mean more to the breeder and exhibitor than did an award from the State Fair of Texas alone.

"There will be keen rivalry. That already is acknowledged. Hence the herds and single specimens sent to Dallas next October will be the best the breeders can assemble.

"New exhibitors are especially urged to show, for everyone connected with the exhibit wishes to encourage the small breeder and the individual dairyman to get into the heart of the competition. They say there is no telling where some of the premiums may fall and that the big fellows have no monopoly on the best animals."

BAZETTE CEMETERY ASSOCIATION PICNIC BE HELD JULY 25

Preparations are being made for the annual Bazette Cemetery Association picnic July 25. J. O. Sessions of Kerens announced Tuesday following a meeting of the organization the latter part of the week to made final plans. A large number of people are drawn to the affair each year.

The Bazette cemetery is one of the oldest in the state and the annual picnic draws people from all parts of the county and many parts of the state. The cemetery is thoroughly worked and put in first class condition at the picnic.

All candidates will be given an opportunity to advance their causes according to the plans mapped out by the association, and with the intense interest in political affairs this year, this attraction is expected to draw an unusually large crowd.

The picnic will be held at the old Prairie Point church on July 25.

Crop Conditions in Limestone Good

MEXIA, July 10.—(Spl.)—After a corn crop that appears the best in many years, Limestone and Freestone county communities report cotton also looking well with many blossoms and large bolls. Unless there is some pest or disastrous weather, indications point to a good cotton crop throughout the district. Some sections planted late, while storms damaged in some districts, but on the whole the crop looks the finest in several years. Heavy rains of June have made weed and grass fighting a difficult task, however.

Thirteen Figures Prominently in This Limestone Meeting

MEXIA, July 10.—(Spl.)—Suggestions for community co-operation will be made when 13 towns of Limestone and Freestone counties gather here as guests of the Mexia chamber of commerce Friday, July 13, according to W. B. Landrum, secretary of the Mexia chamber of commerce.

The president and secretary of the chambers of towns that are organized and two representative citizens of unorganized towns have been invited to attend. A number have signified their intention to attend.

After an address of welcome by C. W. Mehrle, president of the local chamber, B. H. Broiles, chairman of the Bi-Stone committee of the Mexia chamber, will lead a round table discussion of plans.

Towns invited to take part are: Wortham, Teague, Fairfield, Streetman, Kirven, Prairie Hill, Coolidge, Tehuacana, Groesbeck, Thornton, Kosse and Personville.

ENLISTMENTS ARE BEING SOUGHT HERE FOR REGULAR ARMY

Sergeant Earl Stringfield, Fifth Cavalry, United States Army, attache to the Dallas district recruiting staff, is in Corsicana and is making his headquarters in the American Legion Hall over Cunningham Brothers.

All branches of the service are now open for enistments, according to Sgt. Stringfield, and all men between the ages of 18 and 35 who are interested are asked to see the recruiting officer at once. He will be in the Corsicana territory for the greater part of the month on enlistment duty.

He also announced that after August 1, a permanent recruiting sub-station woud be established in Corsicana with offices in the Legion Hall. Recruiting offices were formerly in the post-office but the remodeling program made it necessary to seek other quarters.

Stringfield will be in Corsicana until Wednesday noon and will then go to Wortham and other points returning here on July 17 for three days, before making another tour. He will return to Corsicana on July 24 and remain until July 27.

All men interested in military service are asked to take note of the sergeant's day in Corsicana and see him at that time.

LABOR IS WARNED ABOUT CONDITIONS IN FARM DISTRICTS

FORT WORTH, July 10.—(AP)—Cotton pickers are warned not to go to farms looking for work unless prepared to "hatch" and that persons looking for work in wheat fields will find none, in a statement issued by C. W. Woodman, assistant superintendent of the United States employment service.

Use of combines has reduced harvest labor demands by 50 per cent, Woodman states.

A branch office of the employment service will be opened Wednesday at Edinburg and another will be opened next week at Robstown. "There is sufficient labor in the lower Rio Grande Valley to take care of the situation at present," Woodman said.

Mexia Woman Has Vision Smith Defeat

MEXIA, July 10.—(Spl.)—Mrs. T. A. Kindred, ardent foe of Al Smith and active political worker, claims that Mexia will not support Al Smith in the election in November. When a Dallas committee phoned Mrs. Kindred for some names to add to a "call" for a mass meeting to be held Tuesday, July 17, in Dallas, Mrs. Kindred obtained the names of 105 in three hours, each declaring their desire to help "defeat" Al Smith, Democratic nominee.

Many of the 105 had attended the precinct convention, where the Wilcox pledge was taken by all.

SLAYER OF THREE WOMEN RETURNED TO SAN ANGELO JAIL

SAN ANGELO, July 11.—(AP)—Floyd Newton Byrnes, 25, confessed slayer of three women here on March 3 and under death sentence for the murder of one of them, was in the Tom Green county jail again today, awaiting action on his case by the court of criminal appeals.

Byrnes was returned from the state penitentiary last night by Deputy Sheriff T. C. Rutledge and Constable Jack Miles. Nothing had been heard of the party since they left Huntsville Monday afternoon and fear was felt for their safety. The officers explained that a trip to a South Texas prison farm to get a negro, under indictment here caused the delay.

Byrnes was returned to San Angelo because the penitentiary no longer had accommodation for him, Sheriff Bob Hewitt was advised.

Byrnes is under death sentence for the murder of Myrna Juergens, 14, who with her mother, Mrs. W. J. Juergens, and grandmother, Mrs. Rose Schirra, was slain at the Juergens home near here. Byrnes was the family chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Langston and daughter, Mrs. Edwin McElween, and her two daughters, Myrene and Learldine, are here on a visit from West Columbia, Brazoria county, Texas. They formerly resided in this county. They report crops fine in their part of the state, but they are needing rain.

GATHERINGS SCHEDULED FOR ALMOST EVERY NIGHT THIS AND NEXT WEEK

Those interested in politics and political speakings will have an opportunity of hearing candidates practically every night during the present week and next week, with the regular scehdule for the county candidates and a liberal sprinkling of state candidates here.

The candidates spoke at Richland Wednesday night in the interest of their races. A. A. Allison of Corsicana, former resident of Richland, presided. A large crowd was present to hear the candidates. It was reported Thursday that the crowd at Richland was perhaps the largest of the schedule thus far. A number of people went to Richland from Corsicana.

Friday night, July 13, the candidates are scehduled to speak at Purdon.

Saturday afternoon, July 14, the county candidates will speak at Frost. Senator Earl B. Mayfield, who is seeking re-election to the United States senate, is scheduled to speak on the county court house lawn Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the interest of his candidacy.

Monday night, July 16, the candidates of Navarro county will speak in Rice.

Tuesday, July 17, the local candidates speak at Barry and Tom Connally of Falls county, congressman, candidate for the United States senate, is to speak here on the court house lawn at 8:15 o'clock.

Wednesday, July 18, there is a conflict between the scheduled county-wide Legrand J. Woods for County Attorney rally and Louis J. Wardlaw, gubernatorial candidate speaking. It is likely that there will be a change announced within a day or two as the court house lawn is the only available place and it has been secured for the Wood's rally. It is expected that a change will be effected in the Wardlaw date. The county candidates will speak at Rushing on Wednesday evening.

Dan Moody, governor, seeking reelection, is scheduled to speak here sometime during the week in the interest of his candidancy, but no definite date has been determined.

Friday night, July 20, the county candidates will go to Blooming Grove for speaking dates and Saturday afternoon, July 21, the candidates will go to Kerens.

Politics are "hot" as the first primary approaches, July 28, and each of those seeking office are putting forth their every effort on the "home stretch' prior to the primary.

Killer Now Insane, Moody Grants Stay For Examination

AUSTIN, July 12.—(AP)—Believed insane from worry and death cell fear, Bill Smith, scheduled for electrocution July 14, for participation in the slaying of a Fisher county sheriff and his deputy, was granted a 30-day reprieve Wednesday by Governor Moody.

The governor telephoned his decision from Corpus Christi to J. D. Hall, his assistant secretary, after two state hospital superintendents had reported that Smith is unbalanced.

The alienists said he had become mad since sentence was passed on him, that "he is in a deplorable mental condition and should not be executed while in such condition." They declared that "for humanity's sake, he should be removed from the death cell without delay."

Smith probably will be taken to Jones county where he was tried for a sanity hearing.

Commutation of the sentence was not recommended, but the doctors thought he should be confined in an asylum for treatment.

Lloyd Conatser, also convicted in the killings, was given 99-years.

Smith's position has been unusually unsettled, after the first examination, physicians in a tentative report said he apparently was sane, Governor Moody then announced he expected to allow no clemency.

FT. WORTH WOMAN SEEKS LARGE SUM HUGGINS ESTATE

HENRIETTA, July 12.—(AP)—Allegations that she is entitled to a $600,000 share in a $2,000,000 estate left by J. L. Huggins on his death in Fort Worth on May 6 are contained in the suit filed here by Mrs. I. I. Turner, Fort Worth, against W. H. Myers, executor, and 24 heirs.

The suit is based on the general allegation that Huggins, who the plaintiff contends was her common law husband for nine years prior to his death, promised Mrs. Turner protection under the law and an interest in the estate just the same as if they had been married with a legal marriage license.

The petition for partition of the estate alleges that one year after her husband died, Mrs. Turner began living with Huggins, wealthy Henrietta farmer and rancher as his wife, about February, 1919. She contended they lived together as man and wife until his death at her home at 1705 Eighth avenue in Fort Worth, May 6, 1928.

ing his address, Mr. Johnson told the audience that private ownership of land and other permanent property is vested in the owner for life time. "And this does not authorize the owner to misuse or abuse such land or property in any way that will cause it to be less productive or of less value when it comes time for it to be turned back, or to leave it, than it was when he received it, or when it was placed in his hands," he said.

He heartily indorsed the stand of Mr. Ousley in regard to the policy outlined by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce for financing construction and maintenance of highways. He set forth facts concerning federal aid by stating that where the federal government participates with the state and local governments it is the practice of each to stand one third of the cost of construction of highways, with the state taking over the maintenance thereafter.

Kerens May Lose Road.

He said that if Kerens does not take part with them in constructing a highway through this city that there is a possibility of the highway commission dropping the designation of highway 31, as, it now stands, due to the fact that upkeep cost is excessive, and that a good road may be built through territory serving the state in the same manner as the present highway but not saying the local community in any way. He answered questions concerning the building up or filling up of gaps with pavement along highway 31, especially mentioning the cost of a bridge across Trinity river, east of Kerens. He said that that would fall upon the two counties, Navro and Henderson as the river was the dividing line of the two. "Out of federal and state aid there would be only one-fourth left to be paid by the two counties, which would leave only one eighth to be paid by Navarro," he stated.

Form Association.

Highway No. 31 Association was then organized with Lee Jester, elected as permanent chairman, and an executive committee composed or representatives from each county interested in this highway. The following are members of the executive committee: Chas. L. Duncan, Mt. Pleasant; R. B. Still, Tyler, Dr. L. W. Pulley, Trinidad; E. E. Nettles, Kerens; R. M. Acres, Dawson; J. M. Pendelton, Waco, and Chas. Jester of Corsicana.

The towns represented in the meeting were: Tyler, Athens, Malakoff, Trinidad, Kerens, Powell, Corsicana, Dawson, Waco, Dallas and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce at Longview.

A barbecue luncheon was served to about 75 members and over 200 local people.

Lewis Carpenter, brother of John W. Carpenter who is president of the Texas Power & Light Co., spoke in the afternoon at which time he emphasized the fact that the meeting should go on record as favoring the early completion of highway No. 31 by filling up the gaps from Mt. Pleasant to Waco and that the Highway Association should go on record as having instructed the executive committee to proceed at once to work on the matters to bring about the filling in of all gaps on that highway.

Endorsed New Plan.

The Highway association also went on record as indorsing the policies advocated by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in regard to financing state highways. In case this policy is put into practice it will amount to this: That all state highways will be built and maintained by the people who travel over the roads in the state.

In order to make this fair and just to the people who have already spent local moneys in constructing State highways the policy calls for the refunding or assumption of such outstanding bonds as may be against the local district which were used to construct the State highways. Local application in case the Kerens road district should vote $185,000 in bonds, and spend the major portion of this in construction of a highway in conjunction with the state of Texas that when this policy goes into practice this money will be refunded to this district, and may be used to retire these same bonds or to build the lateral roads through this district.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Kerens Chamber of Commerce by the visitors for the entertainment, also a vote of thanks to be expressed to Mr. Johnson for giving his time to this meeting and the interest shown by him.

SLIGHT DECLINE IN EAST CENTRAL AREA OIL OUTPUT SHOWN

Production in the East Central Texas area continued a slight decline during the months of May and June, following the graduating scale for oil fields. Some hopes of an increased production is in view with rapid development of the dome area in Cherokee and Anderson counties, which now have a daily production of about 400 barrels daily.

The Powell field continues to lead the various fields during the two months period, with the combined Mexia pool in second place.

The production by months:

TWO ADDITIONAL MEMBERS OF NOBILE PARTY ARE RESCUED

Injury Impedes Progress.

Setting out from the Nobile group on May 15 to bring help, the progress of the three men toward land had been impeded by an injury to Dr. Malmgren's leg, which he suffered when the gondola of the Italia crashed to the ground.

Unable to move further, the heroic scientist who had given most of his years to study of the secrets of the North, begged them to march on to save their own lives and leave him to his inevitable end, but they would not go. They felt bound to him by the closest bonds of comradship in the desolate frozen waste which surrounded them and they ministered to him until he died

Even in death they would not desert his body, and for 30 days jealously guarded it.

Day after day they spent in the silent horror, their food supplies slowly but steadily diminishing, until thirteen days ago there was virtually nothing left. In the desolate region where they were off Northeast Land, they had just one hope, and that was that somehow out of the murky skies might come a rescuing airplane.

This dream, the men said today, born in infinite pain, was finally fulfilled when Chukhnovsky on Tuesday evening emerged from the heavy, low-hanging clouds like a rescuing angel.

Hope Comes at Last.

Starving as they were and dying inch by inch, the plane bore a promise of life, but for the moment this promise was not destined for fulfillment, and 36 hours of further suffering was still before them. The plane could not land, but Chukhnovsky, disregarding his own peril from a forced landing on Northeast Land, directed the Krassin by wireless to the spot where the two men were huddled.

All last night the Krassin plunged again and again through the thick mass of ice floes through the 20 miles of sea that separated it from the dying men. At 5 o'clock this morning the captain on the bridge saw a human figure on an ice floe.

Two hours later the ice breaker drew alongside the tiny group on the floe. One of the men stood waving faintly a tattered flag. The second lay exhausted on the ice and beside him was the body of Dr. Malmgren.

Injuries More Serious.

The doctor, although widely experienced in Arctic life, had been harder hit by the accident to him when the gondola crashed than he knew, and was not equal to the long and difficult journey before him. He died a month ago from cold and exhaustion near Brock Island.

Eager as the Russians were to minister to the needs of the living men, they did not forget the dead. While all stood at salute the body was carried aboard the vessel and laid in state. It was a moving scene, and many of the hardened men participating in it were not ashamed to show their tear-stained faces.

As the Krassin turned its bow for further rescue work, Captains Zappi and Mariano, given up for dead many weeks ago, were taken below where they were bathed, given food and fresh clothes.

Of the 16 men who set out in the dirigible Italia for the North Pole on May 23, three have been rescued, two are definitely known to have died, five are in grave peril near Foyn Island awaiting rescue and the remaining six have disappeared entirely with the probability that they are long dead.

In addition to Captains Zappi and Mariano, the third rescued man was General Umberto Nobile, commander of the expedition, who was taken from the ice by the Swedish flier, Lieut. Einer Lundborg. The two dead are Dr. Malmgren and Vincenzo Pommela, motor attendant, who was killed May 25 in the crash of the gondola on the ice.

The five men whose whereabouts are known are Lieut. Alfredo Viglieri, Prof. F. Behounek, Guiseppi Biagi, Natale Ceccioni and Filippo Trojani. Ceccioni has a broken leg and was last reported in a precarious condition.

The six missing who were carried off in the bag of the Italia to almost certain death, were Lieut. Ettore Arduino, Prof. Aldo Pontremoli, Dr. Ugo Lago, Renato Allesandrini, Attileo Taratti and Calisto Ciocca.

There at least nine others who have been swallowed up in the Arctic. These consisted of two rescue parties, the one headed by Roald Amundsen, famous explorer, and the other headed by Captain Sora, Italian Alpine Chasseur. The Amundsen party, of six left Norway in an airplane last month and has since dropped out of sight, while the Sora group started afoot across Northeast Land and has since disappeared.

Pilot Chukhnovsky and four of his crew aboard the Russian plane which sighted the Malmgren group also has been added to the list of would-be rescuers in difficulties since his plane made a forced landing yesterday, damaging its landing gear. The group has enough provisions for two weeks and will make an effort to repair the plane.

ABOARD RUSSIAN ICEBREAKER KRASSIN, July 12.—(AP)—Given up for dead for six weeks, two of the three members of the Italia's walking party were rescued today by the icebreaker Krassin.

The third member, Dr. Finn Malmgren, noted Swedish meteorologist and scientist, was found dead, the victim of the bitter struggle since May 30 against the terrors of the Arctic.

The rescued members of the party were Captain Alberto Mariano, pilot of the illfated Italia, and Captain Filippo Zappi, the navigator.

Captains Mariano and Zappi are now aboard the Krassin. Both were in an exhausted, half-frozen and starved state when they were snatched from what had seemed certain death for many weeks. Captain Mariano's leg was frozen, but his companion was quite well.

Dr. Malmgren died a month ago, but his two companions, faithful to their dead comrade, had kept his body and this was taken aboard the Krassin today.

Seek to Rescue Others.

The Russian icebreaker, as soon as it had rescued the two Italians, again turned its prow toward the east and began its weary round of battering the ice floes in an effort to reach the group of men under Lieutenant Vigliere still marooned near Foyn Island off Northeast Land.

Captains Mariano and Zappi said that they had given up hope in what seemed to them their last, agonizing moments in the icebound world that had hemmed them in for so many days when suddenly the Soviet airplane with Pilot Chunshnovsky appeared out of the low-hanging mist.

Startled by the roar of the motors coming out of the vast silence, the two men said that they leaped to their feet an dwaved frantically to the flier who circled above them. A new hope for life surged through them and from that moment until the Krassin succeeded in making its way close to them through 20 miles of icepacked sea, they felt that they were safe.

Although the two Italians had virtually nothing to eat for thirteen days, living on the meagrest of fare, they were in good spirits and full of courage when rescued and were able to express their warmest thanks to the crew of the Krassin.

The position of the party when the Krassin reached the men was 80.39 north latitude and 26.7 east longtitude, a point some miles north of Prince Oscar Land and about 20 miles from Foyn Island.

While the Italia's walking party was rescued, the Russian airman Chunkhnovsky and four others in his plane, who first reported sighting the missing men yesterday, himself was stranded on Northeast Land.

The Russian plane was damaged in making a landing on the ice, but the crew was able to reach land and it was considered that they were in a position of safety.

There had been some doubt as to the identity of the three men sighted by Chunkhnovsky, but this was cleared up by today's dispatch specifically identifying the group as that of Dr. Malmgren. Shunkhnovsky, in his reports had expressed the belief that it was the Malmgren group, but there was some feeling that the men might have been the Alpine Chasseur Captain Sora and two Norwegian guides who have been missing on the ice fields for weeks.

Dr. Malmgren, widely known for his meteorological studies in the Arctic was a member of the Norge expedition of 1926 when Captain Roald Amundsen and General Umberto Nobile made the first dirigible flight over the north pole. The Swedish meteorologist, small, quiet, scholarly man, had been connected with several of the expeditions conducted by Amundsen.

Russian Aviators Stranded on Ice

MOSCOW, July 12.—(AP)—Another ironical twist was given to the Nobile rescue efforts today with news that the Russian pilot Chukhnovsk and four companions were stranded near Northeast Land after having discovered the walking party of the Itália and given direction for its rescue.

Prof. Samoilovich, head of the Russian epedition aboard the icebreaker Krassin, sent a report on the discovery of the Malmgren group Tuesday July 10. The report follows:

"A plane piloted by Chukhnovsky with Straude, Shelagin, Alekseev and the movie operator Blushtein aboard took off to search for the Viglieri group at 4:30 p. m., July 10.

"Circling twice, the plane disappeared in the direction of Karl Island. At 5:30 p. m., the plane reached the island without seeing the faintest sign of the Viglieri camp. Proceeding farther and flying low, Carukhnovsky at 6:45 suddenly discovered the Malmgren group of three huddled together on a small sharp edged iceberg. Two of the men stood waving flags while the third lay prostrate.

"Circling five times Chukhnovsky returned, but due to heavy fog did not succeed in reaching the Krassin. Radio contact with Chukhnosky ceased at 8:16 p. m. and it was not until 10:30 a. m., on July 11 that Chukhnovsky radioed he had been forced to land a mile or two southwest of Cape Platen, being unable to give the precise location on account of fog.

"The crew has two weeks' supplies of food, weapons and ammunition. Chukhnovsky urged the Krassin to push to the rescue of the three unfortunates who apparently were in a desperate position."

Chuknovsky reported that the under carriage of his machine had been damaged in landing and asked that assistance be sent to him to repair this.

THREE STOWAWAYS ARE FOUND ABOARD OLYMPIC STEAMSHIP

ABOARD S. S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, July 12.—(AP)—Three stowaways including Frank Hussey, former national sprint champion, were discovered today on this vessel which is conveying the United States Olympic team to the games at Amsterdam. The others were Hugo Leistner, San Francisco hurdler, and Clyde Blanchard of the University of Arizona, another hurdler, who also was shut out in the trials for places on the team.

All three were confined in the brig overnight. Hussey was the first released when friends including the runners, Joe Tierney and Bob McAllister, raised $130 to defray the expense of the passage.

The Olympic committee provided Hussey with the necessary credentials.

Leistner and Blanchard were still confined although it was understood William Humphreys of San Francisco offered to sponsor Leistner.

sition to a mudslinging campaign and forcibly urged that party speakers devote their efforts to discussion of "constructive policies." He contended that to insure success in November the party had but to convey to the country the knowledge that the people of New York had of Smith and the people of Arkansas of his running mate—Senator Joseph T. Robinson.

Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors corporation, said that up to the present he had not been a partisan. He offered as an explanation of his being listed in Who's Who as a republican, his connection with the E. I. DuPont De Nemours company, adding that he twice had voted for Woodrow Wilson, and then supported the republican ticket.

He emphasized in addressing the committee that Governor Smith had announced publicly his approval of the farm plank in the platform drafted by the Houston convention and said that the New York executive is "experienced in this important problem."

Besides selecting Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Farley as vice chairmen to work with him in the campaign, Raskob also picked Frank Hague of New Jersey; Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, and Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, as his other lieutenants.

He appointed Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, to head an advisory sub-committee created by the national body to assist in working out details of the campaign and among other things confer with the two nominess as to the determination of notification dates. This committee is expected to convene shortly to take up the latter question.

Raskob also picked Herbert H. Lehman, New York financier, to take the chairman ship of the financier, to take the chairmanship of the finance committee which up to the present has been held by Jesse Jones of Houston. After choosing Raskob as its new head, the national committee also unanimously re-elected James W. Gerard, of New York, as committee treasurer, and Charles A. Greathouse of Indiana, as secretary.

Mrs. Ross In Charge.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming, was selected today by John J. Raskob, newly elected chairman of the democratic national committee, to take direct charge of all women's activities in the campaign.

Mrs. Ross, who is national committee woman from her state and also a vice-chairman of the national committee, will be assisted by Mrs. Florence Farley of Kansas, also a national committee woman and vice chairman.

and Muscle Shoals, scrapping of all armaments, and a policy of non-interference in Latin-American disputes. A deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic was also approved.

While the prohibitionists took no action toward naming a candidate for president, the sentiment of leaders was that the party probably would endorse the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, either by direct action or by failure to nominate at all, thus leaving members of the party free to vote for the republican nominee.

Norris Will Not Accept.

WASHINGTON, July 12. —(AP)— Announcement was made at the office of Senator Norris of Nebraska today that he would head no third party movement. The statement was made in connection with his nomination for the presidency at Chicago by the farmer-labor party.

In the absence of Senator Norris, his secretary stated that the senator had been approached by convention leaders in Chicago within the last few days regarding whether he would head a third ticket.

The secretary asserted that the senator had definitely stated at the time that he would not accept such a nomination.

Party Leaders in Quandary.

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The struggles for and against indorsement of the republican presidential candidate, Herbert Hoover, continued at the prohibition party's convention today.

A few squares away, the farmer-labor party executive committee pondered a delimma, created by Senator Norris, refusal to head a third party. The farmer-labor conventon nominated the Nebraska republican.

A resolution indorsing Hoover presented by H. Rea Garber, Pittsburgh, brought on the prohibition debate. Action on the resolution was delayed until after a platform is adopted.

W. A. Gay of Birmingham, Ala., a Baptist minister, mentioned the name of Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama, a foe of Governor Smith, democratic presidential candidate, during a plea for "a union of dry forces."

Gay declared that Alabama was a pioneer prohibition state and that it had given to "the cause" Senator Heflin and Senator Hugo Black.

"God bless Heflin," a delegate interjected.

"Hugo Black heads 15,000 men in Montgomery, and they are doing some good," said Gay. "I'm not a Ku Klux either but I'm against Al Smith and so is every other Baptist and one in every three men in Alabama are Baptists. I've swallowed my democracy—and that means something to a man whose grandmother was Jefferson Davis' cousin."

"Absurd," Says Vereen.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 12.—(AP)—His nomination as a candidate for vice president on the Farm-Labor ticket at the Chicago convention is "absurd so far as I am concerned," Will J. Vereen, of Moultrie, Ga., said today.

"Under no consideration would I accept or even consider the nomination," Mr. Vereen declared.

"I know nothing about the matter except from press reports. I did not even know the convention was being held or who was holding it."

Vereen is a cotton textile manufacturer. He was a delegate at large from Georgia to the national Democratic convention at Houston.

GRAND JURY PROBE ALLEGED POSTOFFICE PATRONAGE SALES

ATLANTA, Ga., July 10. —(AP)— Roscoe Pickett, chairman of the Georgia republican state central committee, admitted at the senate patronage inquiry today he once had received a contribution "of several hundred dollars" but declared he returned it and told the donor to send a check to the treasurer if he wished to contribute.

The witness said the check was mailed to him by a Mr. Southern, republican leader at Blairsville.

Pickett previously had told the committee that he had neither received nor solicited any funds for the state organization.

ATLANTA, July 11.—(AP)—Summoning of a federal grand jury at Biloxi to investigate alleged sale of postal appointments in Mississippi will be asked of the local court there, a sub-committee of the senate postoffice committee investigating similar charges in Georgia announced today.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, committee chairman, said Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant U. S. attorney general, was en route to Mississippi to make the request, in case the regular grand jury was not in session and that she expected to reach Biloxi tomorrow. If the body already is sitting, she will ask that it include the patronage itinerary in its labors.

The sub committee said it would watch closely with a view to following it up with an investigation of its own at an early date.

The committee announcement said that a mass of information concerning the Mississippi charges had been placed before it and that it was the plan to take up these matters shortly "and make a thorough investigation concerning the sale of federal offices in that state."

Under present plans the committee will close its hearings here tomorrow evening and return to Washington to hear the postmaster general.

Suicide Is Brought In.

ATLANTA, July 10.—(AP)—The suicide of L. F. Peterson, democratic postmaster at Douglas, Ga., who blamed his deed on alleged assessments of the Georgia republican organization was drawn sharply into the pictures at today's hearing of charges of patronage irregularities by a senate sub-committee.

Roscoe Pickett, chairman of the state republican central committee, took the stand as the first witness to assert that his investigation of the case showed that the real cause of Peterson's act was a shortin his funds at the postoffice.

The witness, admitting that he had heard complaints of collections by party officials or others, said the Peterson case was the only recent instance brought to his attention.

"I made an investigation," he said, "I found that the real cause of Mr. Peterson's deed was not any payments he may have made to some one. The records show he contributed only $115 during the three years he was postmaster. I found, however, that Peterson had drawn several overdrafts and was short."

United States Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, aiding the committee in the questioning of witnesses, questioned Pickett on the Peterson case.

"Is it not true that these alleged shortages occurred while he was under threat of removal?"

"Yes," replied the witness. "I have since discovered that to be true."

BILOXI, Miss., July 10.—(AP)—Federal court officials here professed ignorance of a grand jury investigation into the alleged sale of postmasterships in Mississippi.

They said no subpoenas have been issued nor jurors summoned.

FIGHT TO OUST TALLEY IS DROPPED BY PAT WILLIAMS

DALLAS, July 12.—(AP)—That no further personal effort to oust Lynn P. Talley, governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, will be conducted by J. P. Williams of Mineral Wells and other member bankers was revealed in a statement made by Mr. Williams today at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Dallas District Bank.

Over 300 bankers of the eleventh Federal Reserve district were present to discuss ways and means of bettering relations between the Federal Reserve Bank and member banks.

Aside from the statement of Mr. Williams, in which he explained that while he had decided to drop the personal fight against Mr. Talley he had not altered his personal opinion in the case, there was no sign of antagonism toward the district governor.

MAN HELD NEW YORK CLAIM HAVE KILLED TWO MEN IN TEXAS

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—John Crosslin, 28, was held under $50,000 bond today, when arraigned on charges of vagrancy and intoxication, to give police a chance to check his story, later repudiated, of two murders in Texas five years ago. Hearing was set for July 18.

Crosslin was arrested after a quarrel with a taxi cab driver over $3 and told police of the Texas murders. Later at the arraignment he admitted signing the confession, but denied the statements relating to the killings. He said he had committed forgeries in many places however.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—John Crosslin, 28, arrested today in Brooklyn after a quarrel with a taxi cab driver over $3, told police he had slain two persons in Texas five years ago. Police were inclined to discredit the story, but were investigating.

Crosslin, who said he was a former member of "Scarface" Al Capone's gang in Chicago, told police he killed his half-brother, Guy Castellano, in a quarrel over the latter's wife in Waco.

From Waco, according to the story, he fled to the home of a brother-in-law, George Hogan, in Wichita Falls.

"We quarreled, so I killed him, too," Crosslin said.

From there, Crosslin related, he went to Chicago and engaged in the bootlegging racket.

Waco Police Deny.

WACO, July 11.—(AP)—Police here declared today that they had no record of the killing here five years ago of Guy Castellano by John Crosslin, which the latter is said to have confessed at New York.

ST. LOUIS BANKER ROBBED OF $47,800 ON EADS BRIDGE

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—(AP)—Claude E. Mattingly, collector and head of the real estate department of the First National Bank of East St. Louis, Ills., reported he was held up on the Eads bridge across the Mississippi river shortly before noon today by four men who robbed him of $47,800 cash.

Alone and unarmed, Mattingly was taking the money, representing a week's collection of his department, from his own bank to the First National Bank in St. Louis. The holdup took place, he said, when the four men drove up in an automobile and forced his car to the curb, a few hundred feet west of the eastern toll station of the bridge.

HIGHWAY MEETING HELD AT KERENS; ROAD DISCUSSED

Headed by C. L. Jester, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce and former head of the good roads committee that handled the details of the campaign for Consolidated Good Roads district No. 1, a delegation from Corsicana attended the meeting held at Kerens, Wednesday at which an attempt was made to solve the problem of completing State Highway No. 31 from the bounds of the Corsicana District to the county line.

Representatives from many towns along the route of the highway from Tyler to Waco were present at the meeting. Members of the state highway department and also the engineering staff were present to assist in making the plans.

President Jester presided at the meeting which started at 10 o'clock and lasted well into the afternoon. A big barbecue dinner was served at the noon hour. The sessions were held in the tabernacle.

The most important problem before the meeting was the completion of the road between the end of Navarro County Consolidated Road District No. 1 just east of Powell and the Henderson County line, which included the building of a bridge across the Trinity river.

Among those attending the meeting from Corsicana were C. L. Jester, County Judge Warren Hicks, J. L. Halbert, J. O. Burke, J. N. Edens and R. J. Jackson.

Hon. Clarence Ousley, prominent agricultural authority, was among the speakers of the day.

DALLAS EDITOR DENIES DISTURBING PUBLIC WORSHIP

DALLAS, July 10.—(AP)—Wilford B. Smith, publisher of "The Pitchfork," a Dallas periodical, was arraigned it justice court here today on a charge of disturbing religious worship at the partly constructed Fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle Friday night.

The accused entered a plea of not guilty and offered as his sole defense the contention that "there was no religious worship at the meeting he disturbed."

The little court room was packed with many persons standing outside unable to crowd in.

Counsel for defense explained to the jury that his client had not disturbed religious worship in that the minister had discussed the policy of newspapers, discussed who should be elected president, and had "launched into a tirade against a district judge and his official acts."

The Rev. J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth was occupying the pulpit at the time of the disturbance.

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE CONSIDERABLE SUM FOR CAMPAIGN WORK

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—The final report of Jesse H. Jones as director of the Democratic national committee tomorrow will show that the new campaign committee will have approximately $200,000 to start on.

In a statement today in which he summarized the report he will make to the national committee, Jones said that since January, 1925, $708,000 had been received from all sources.

Of this amount $200,000 was contributed by citizens of Houston for the convention hall, and $44,000 came from convention concessions. Expenses of the convention were about $84,000. No part of the convention fund, he said, was used to pay the 1924 deficit or running expenses of the National committee.

Contributions and collectable pledges received for paying the deficit and committee running expenses, including $13,000 contributed by the committee to the Womens' National Democratic club, Washington, and $20,000 contributed by the committee to the senatorial and congressional campaign committees in 1926 aggregate $464,000. Total expenditures for all the above items aggregate about $424,000, leaving a balance of approximately $40,000 out of that fund for the new campaign. This added to the net of the Houston convention fund will give the new campaign committee approximately $200,000 with all debts paid.

CERTIFIED NAMES WILL ALL APPEAR ON LOCAL TICKET

The official ticket for the approaching democratic primary, July 28, in Navarro county was made up by the committee recently appointed by the Navarro County Democratic Executive Committee for this work. The ticket went to the printer late Monday and will be ready to be sent to the presiding judges in plenty of time.

All names certified to the committee were placed upon the ticket and none of the names of the state candidates who have publicly declared that they do not intend to support the presidential nominee were omitted, according to an announcement Tuesday morning.

The committee is composed of C. H. DeLafosse, county chairman, Corsicana; L. W. Varnell, Barry; W. L. Bailey, Angus; John C. Beck, Frost and N. S. Crawford, Kerens.

ORDER OF DEMOLAY INSTALL OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

INTERESTING EXERCISES ARE HELD AT MASONIC TEMPLE TUESDAY EVENING

Public installation of the officers of the local DeMolay chapter was held Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple and was witnessed by a large number of Masons, relatives and friends of the order.

W. M. Elliott, advisor for the council, was installing officer and William Parrish, P. M. C., presided.

Full regalia of the order was worn by the officers to be installed and special lighting effects used making the ceremony an impressive one.

Miss Bettie Lloyd Suttle presided at the piano and played the march for the officers as well as the accompaniment for the singing of America by the chapter. Prayer was led by Rev. Arthur Griffith, tiler of the Masonic lodge.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Rev. P. Martin Baker, pastor of the Third Avenue Presbyterian church, who told the members of the order that he did not come to bring them encouragement and comfort but rather a challenge.

The speaker told the boys that as they faced life they would be divided into groups, one group confining itself to the vicinity in which they lived, one would spread out enough to take in the state, still another would be interested in America and that one group would have the interest of the whole world at heart. He said that the time was coming when true citizenship will be judged by the interest one has in affairs of the whole world.

Rev. Mr. Baker said that the members of the Order of DeMolay had a great opportunity and he told them that by remaining true to the great cardinal principles of the order they could accomplish much. He told them not to be deceived by the easy way of life.

Following the installation service refreshments were served in the dining hall of the Masonic Temple.

Following are the officers installed: Lonnie Walton, Master Councilor; Corwin Cudney, Senior Councilor; Eldon Megarity, Junior Councilor; Ray Smith, treasurer; Willie K. Palmer, scribe; Claude Eads, Senior Deacon; Scott Lowery, Junior Deacon; A. Z. Elkins, Senior Steward; Clyde Stroud, Junior Steward; Walter Lee Lichlyter, chaplain; Henry Harris, sentinel; David Elliott, marshall; Otis Devenport, standard bearer; Robert Knight, Ray Smith, Frank Kent, Samuel Haslam, H. R. McCandless, Melburn Benson and Allen Bryant, preceptors.

William Parrish, retiring Master Councilor, was presented a Past Master Councilor's pin in recognition of his services during the three terms of office he served. The pin was presented by W. M. Elliott in behalf of the order.

Hints for the Farm

Furnished by the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Average crops of alfalfa hay, wilted in the swath, will cure almost as quickly in side-delivery rake windrows and when left to fully cure in the swath the hay is much superior if raked. A side delivery rake is considered an essential machine in the production of high grade alfalfa.

One farmer, operating a roadside stand for the sale of honey, catches the eye of the motorist with seven bee hives attractively spaced on the lawn near his stand. The hives are painted white and on each is a large letter, which, read with the others, spells "Pure Honey." Other farm products might be advertised advantageously by modifications of this idea.

If slugs or snails are troublesome in the vegetable or flower gardens the first steps for control should be the removal of all decayed boards, debris, bricks and old flowerpots which serve as hiding places. A boiled potato sprinkled with white arsenic or Paris green is a good bait. In case of slugs, the masses of translucent, yellowish eggs usually deposited in dark and damp locations should be collected and destroyed.

Hogs need plenty of shade in warm weather. If hog houses are high and have plenty of ventilation they may be used. If not, hogs should be locked out. A hog will find shade if he can, but if the shade is not cool he does not seem to realize it, and will stay and die from overheating. If trees are not available, artificial shade should be provided by covering a cheap framework, about four feet high, with brush, hay or straw. It is cooler than if covered with boards or sheet iron.

Based on utility alone apart from breeding or sales value purebred stock has an earning power from a third to one-half greater than scrub stock. The average superiority of purebreds over scrubs for all classes of farm animals is about 40 per cent.

Apple tree tent caterpillars are rarely bothersome in well kept commercial orchards because the arsenical sprays used in control of other pests kill these insects. If they appear in small, unsprayed orchards or on other fruit or shade trees, prompt action will prevent defoliation. The use of a torch made of asbestor or rags bunched on a pole and soaked in kerosene and held flaming under the tents in the higher branches is convenient and effective. It is not wise to use fire in the crotches of larger limbs. Good results are reported from the use of rags saturated with kerosene to "wet down" the insects.

A successful method of destroying fleas on cats and dogs is to wash the animals thoroughly in a tub containing the proper proportion of a saponified coal tar creosote preparation, of which there are a number on the market known as "stock dips." The animals may be removed from the bath and allowed to dry after five or 10 minutes. With cats the preparation should be washed out of the fur with soap and warm water.

SOME INSECTS POISONOUS.

(By U. S. Public Health Service.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the success of "swat the fly" campaigns, drainage projects and other remedial measures, man is still harassed by myriads of insects.

Campers, bathers, vacationists and other outdoor devotees are likely to come in contact with some form of insect life, which in most cases is only pestiferous but in some instances is poisonous.

A camping place should be selected with a view to obtaining as much immunity as possible from these pests. The farther removed campers are from human dwellings and animal sheds, the less will be their annoyance from flies. High ground, well drained and with no water standing nearby, usually will be found fairly free from mosquitoes. It is well to include screening or netting in any camp equipment.

The bites and stings of mosquitoes and other insects may be treated by applying a few drops of household ammonia or ordinary cooking soda, moistened. If stung by bees, wasps, or yellowjackets the "stinger" should be removed before applying ammonia or soda. If the pain is intense, relief can be obtained by cold cloths or a solution of boric acid.

The Red bug or "chigger" is responsible for one of the most annoying and painful skin eruptions. This insect bores its way into the skin, necessitating its removal with a needle. The needle should be sterilized before being used. This may be done by passing it once or twice through a flame. An elcoholic solution of thymol applied to the affected parts is frequently effective in destroying "chiggers." After exposure to these insects, the body should be lathered with soap and bathed as this often prevents further trouble.

MANGLED BODY OF MAN FOUND ALONG RAILROAD TRACKS

S. JAY MULLINS BELIEVED KILLED BY PASSENGER TRAIN ON S. P.

The badly mangled body of S. Jay Mullins, aged 34 years, was found on the H. & T. C. R. R. right of way about three blocks north of the underpass of the T. & B. V. R. R. under the H. & T. C. tracks at an early hour Wednesday morning. It is presumed that he was struck by one of the southbound passenger trains at a late hour Tuesday night or early, Wednesday morning. It was stated that the body was dragged a considerable distance along the tracks.

The body was taken to Young's Mill, Freestone county, late Wednesday afternoon, where interment was made.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Blanche McCoy and Mrs. E. E. Lane.

The left hand was severed near the wrist and the right arm was almost severed near the elbow. Both feet were were cut off and the skull was crushed. The body was badly mangled and cut.

Sam B. Jordan, justice of the peace, and Walter Hayes, deputy sheriff, went to the scene of the death of Mullins, but Judge Jordan did not make a coroner's report.

It was stated that his shoes and hat were beside the track a short distance from where it is thought that he was struck by the train. A pistol was also reported to have been found along with other effects, near the scene of the accident.

City officers also investigated the case Thursday morning.

Rotarians to Meet Wednesday as Usual

The regular luncheon-meeting of the Corsicana Rotary Club will be held Wednesday at 12:15 o'clock at the Navarro Hotel. The program will be in charge of E. H. Newton, Pete Cunningham and Nat Pinkston.

FARM WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Within a few days the government expects to know how best to spend $75,000 in an effort to save the country $50,000,000.

Specifically, research scientists in the department of agriculture will confer with farm representatives on the most advantageous plan for studying the cattle grub with a view to its control or extermination. The seventieth congress appropriated $75,000 for the job, and assisc in the selection of an area best suited for the necessary cooperation in their investigation of the insect that is blamed for the loss of $50,000,000 a year.

Cattle grubs are the larva of hypoderma lineatum and hypoderma bovis, two vicious flies much alike in appearance and habits. They are commonly known as heel flies or "warblies." Their eggs, deposited on hairs of the cattle, usually near the heels, hatch into minute larvae which bore into the animal's body, travel upward through the tissues and later, as large grubs, emerge through holes they have bored in the backs of their host.

An apparently instinctive fear of the flies will send cattle madly dashing into streams to hide their heels, among shade trees and thickets, or upon knolls where the breeze may assist their desperate battle to keep off the attackers. The whine of a single heel fly has been known to start dangerous stampedes on the range.

Frequently cattle will stand in water all day when the flies are extremely bad, losing heavily in weight and milk production through lack of food. Even when they venture to eat the annoyance caused by flies depositing eggs on their heels, or the irritation of larvae in their bodies, causes serious loss in both milk and flesh. Added to this is an estimated loss of from five to ten million dollars a year on the hides of infected cattle, graded low by tanners because of the grub holes.

So few of these flies have been seen that in many cases their existence has been regarded with superstition. It is common for a stockman to say he has heard of the heel fly and observed cattle running from it, but never actually has seen one. The viciousness and persistence of their attack has been known to frighten cattle so that they have jumped blindly over cliffs and into ravines or otherwise destroyed themselves.

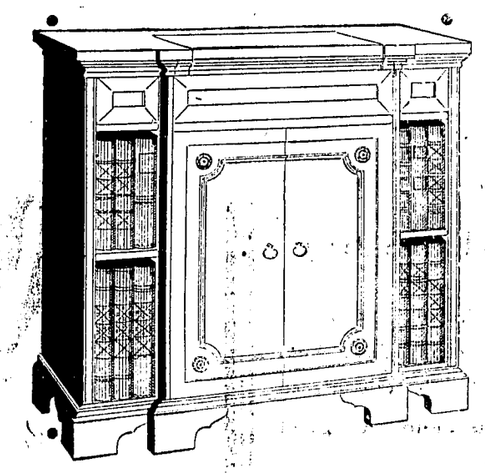

Virgil and Shakespeare are believed to have referred to the pest. As early as 1710 the Italian naturalist Vallisieri published an article on it. England, Denmark and Germany added to the information. American interest was awakened in the "eighties." Cooper Curtice wrote of finding the larvae in 1890. Since then the pest has been reported from almost all parts of Europe, from Canada, north Africa, western India, Mongolia and parts of Japan. In the United States hypoderma lineatum is found to have been bred from the native bison, while the specie of fly known as hypoderma bovis appears to have been introduced from Europe.

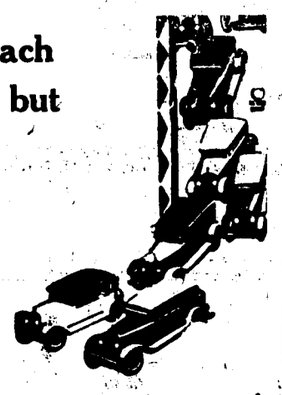

The flies do not eat, and thus are difficult to combat. Extraction of the grubs from the backs of cattle and the use of insecticides has been the only practical method of control. Scientists hope to develop effective measures of extermination from the research program soon to be started.

Editor of Farm Life Says Farmers Not Needing Aid

DETROIT, July 11.—(AP)—William Johnson, editor of Farm Life, believes tears of farmers for relief are of the crocodile variety, based more on a desire for added luxuries than for economic necessities. Addressing the convention of World Advertisers, Mr. Johnson said real economic distress existed in cities where there is a marked absence of "croaking" for federal aid.

"Farming may produce no millionaries," he said, "but it has no breadlines, no flop houses, no pitiable wretches living on charitable nickles and dimes."

COFFEE INDUSTRY DISCUSSED BEFORE CIVITANS THURSDAY

STANDING COMMITTEES FOR YEAR NAMED BY PRESIDENT T. C. ORR

The coffee industry with particular emphasis on the roasting, was presented to the members of the Civitan club at the regular meeting Thursday at noon at the Navarro Hotel by Newell Royall, secretary-treasurer of the Royall Coffee Company of Corsicana.

Taking up the various kinds of coffee, the speaker pointed out that in the majority of cases the coffee took the name of the port from which it was shipped. Mocha and Java coffee, for many years the leading finer grades, have now appeared as Bourbon and Bogota, so named from the places to which it was transplanted when the cost of growing and importation became exorbitant.

Taking up the mechanical preparation of coffee, the speaker traced a quantity of coffee through its mile and a half journey through the roasting plant in Corsicana, beginning with the polisher, which removes all husks, then the separator, which further purifies the grains; then to the roaster. In the roasting process much care must be used to secure the proper color and cooking. About ten years is required to develop a good coffee roaster who can tell at any moment the condition of his wares.

After leaving the roaster, the coffee is stoned and all foreign matter is removed, and where whole grain coffee is used, this must receive a final polish. The grinding and packing completes the process.

Further discussing the marketing of coffee, Mr. Royall stated that there were only two ways, via jobber and direct. In order to most successfully cope with the situation in the districts which the company serves, the speaker said the company was planning a number of branch houses.

In a contest in which club members guessed at the number of grains of coffee in a two pound jar, John Sibley was awarded the first prize, a three-pound can of King of the Cup coffee. His guess was 10,000, while the actual count was announced at approximately 9500. George Crook won the booby prize, a can of the new King of the Cup Cocoa, with a guess of 284,000.

President T. C. Orr then announced the standing committees of the club for the year as follows:

Membership — C. A. Vaughn, Clark Butler, Robert Davidson.

Woods County-Wide Rally July 18, 1928

LeGrand J. Woods, candidate for County Attorney, announces that a county-wide rally in his behalf will be held on the Court House lawn on Wednesday, July 18, 1928. He regrets that he was compelled to hold this on Wednesday night, when a large majority of people will be attending prayer meeting, but that this was the only open speaking date he had between now and the primary on July 28th. And further, that he was unable to get the use of the platform at the Court House on any other night. However the speaking will be continued for such length of time that will enable every one who might be interested to attend.

WACO, July 12.—(Spl.)—Corsicana will have at least three representatives in attendance at the meeting here Friday, July 20, to launch the Greater Baylor University campaign to raise $2,000,000 in the state at large. If the $2,000,000 is raised it means an aggregate of $4,300,000 for Baylor University with one million dollar gifts from Dallas and Waco plus a $300,000 gift from the general education board. All of the $2,000,000 will be used to retire indebtedness and to create additional endowment.

FORMER FERGUSON CAMPAIGN MANAGER AT OUTS WITH JIM

AUSTIN, July 12.—(AP)—Guy R. Holcomb, state campaign manager for former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson two years ago and blue sky commissioner under the Ferguson administration, undertook in a statement here to show that the Ferguson Forum had made conflicting statements as to whether Alvin Owsley, candidate for U. S. Senator, was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Holcomb said former Governor James E. Ferguson, Forum editor, was "my first authority that Owsley was a Ku Klux," but that Ferguson now denies his (Holcomb's) recent charge that Owsley was a Klan member. The former Ferguson manager is supporting Congressman Tom Connally for senator.

"A few days ago," Holcomb said, "I issued a statement charging that Alvin Owsley, candidate for senator, was a Ku Klux and supported Felix D. Robertson against Mrs. Ferguson. Now comes former Governor Jim Ferguson in his Forum this week and says that Owsley was not a Ku Klux and that I knew he was not when I made the statement. Ferguson was my first authority that Owsley was a Ku Klux."

CAMPAIGN PLANS FOR DEMOCRATS TO BE LAID WEDNESDAY

SMITH AND ROBINSON CONFERRED MONDAY; TO MEET WHOLE COMMITTEE

ABANY, N. Y., Juy 10. (AP) — Democratic campaign plans are shaping up rapidly and within 48 hours will be disclosed to the country.

In New York City tomorrow the national committee will organize and a chairman will be named to direct operations. Governor Smith and Senator Robinson, his running mate, will attend the meeting and will have much to say in the mapping out of battle lines.

The vice-presidential nominee, after a brief stop-over in Albany yesterday, proceeded to New York by train, leaving the governor to make the trip down the Hudson today by automobile. On the way Mr. Smith planned to visit a boy scout camp at Bear mountain and drop in at the national guard camp across the river, near Peekskill.

The meeting here of the two nominees was their first since they were nominated. For an hour they discussed campaign strategy, organization and issues, but all they would say later as to the ground canvassed was that the situation had been discussed in a general way.

Coincident with their chat, however, it was diclosed that Governor Smith had given his word that if elected he would begin at once to formulate a legislative program for farm relief. He gave this farm bureau information to W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau federation, who had inquired as to his position of the problem.

Asserting that on the farm question he stands "squarely on the pledges given by the democratic party at Houston," the democratic presidential nominee told Settle that if he wins in November he would not wait until his inauguration to act but immediately would call a conference of leaders to aid him in drafting a legislative program of relief during the winter.

"I understand and sympathize with the objects which organized agriculture is struggling to attain and which our party has promised them to secure," he informed Settle, who in his message on inquiry had told the governor that the farmers are looking for assurance of relief from the economic servitude in which they have been held for seven years."

In replying Mr. Smith departed from the policy both he and Senator Robinson have adopted of refraining from any open discussion of campaign issues until after their official notifications, or at least until after tomorow's national committee meeting.

Selection of a committee chairman, who will manage the campaign, will be left largely to Smith by the committee members, although he has expressed a desire to obtain a consensus on the subject. He has disclaimed that he had made any decision as to the most available man for the post.

MAYOR WALKER TELLS MOVIE WORLD ENTERING POLITICS IS DANGEROUS TO THEIR FUTURE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 10.—(AP)—Addressing the publicity men of the motion picture world, Mayor James J. Walker of New York last night declared he had been informed that the industry "had been delivered into the camp of one of the major political parties."

The mayor said if the film industry allowed its neutrality to be violated in the 1928 presidential campaign, it must "expect the consequences of such partisanship if it guesses wrong."

Mr. Walker mentioned no names. Several prominent motion picture men are Republicans. They include Louis B. Mayer, who attended the Kansas City convention as a delegate; Joseph Schenck, a producer, member of the Republican state central committee, and Will H. Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

So long as the organized motion picture industry sticks to its function of entertainment it has a right to expect the co-operation of public officials, regardless of their political affiliations, in the development of the industry's legitimate business, he declared.

The mayor said he preferred to believe that individuals who make up the industry "are not so enslaved that they can be handed over," and that two or three men prominent in the industry were not strong enough to swing the influence of the screen in one direction or the other, politically.

Robinson Suggests Bureau in South

NEW YORK, Jul 10.—(AP)—Establishment of a democratic campaign bureau in some southern state to offset "an organized effort in several states to defeat the national democratic ticket" was advocated by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas in a statement today.

The statement of the democratic candidate for the vice presidency follows:

"The subjects of concern to me and other democrats just now are for consideration and decision by the national committee in its meeting tomorrow.

"The selectionof a national chairman and the conclusion as to what organizations are required, and how and where they shall be set up are of very great importance. Too much stress cannot be laid on the value of an organization that shall extend its activities to every part of the country.

"I would like to have the committee give attention to the proposal to establish a bureau or headquarters at some central point in one of the Southern states for the direction of the campaign in the South. Conditions in that section are very different from those which have prevailed in other national campaigns. An organized effort is in progress in several Southern states to defeat the national democratic ticket, and, while the force and volume of this movement is not yet known, I am of the opinion that sound policies should prompt our party managers to meet this opposition decisively and promptly.

"The best manner in which to offset the opposition in the South is of course largely for determination by the national committee and it might be that some effective manner other than that herein suggested will be devised. I wish to give emphasis to the advisibility of meeting the conditions referred to aggressively.

"Respecting the custom that has prevailed for many years I prefer not to enter upon a discussion of political issues except in a very general way until the formal notification ceremonies which it is expected will take place some time next month. The date has not yet been decided upon.

"The energy and enthusiasm of the democrats of New York which must be manifest to everyone is a tribute to Governor Smith, whose personal magnetism and genuine interest in the welfare of the masses makes him the outstanding personality in the politics of our time."

HIGHWAY FOREMAN OF NAVARRO COUNTY REPORTS ON WORK

The fiscal year of the state highway department is now drawing to a close and I wish to take this opportunity to report to the people of Navarro county the work that has been accomplished during the past year.

The state highway department and Navarro county has many big construction projects under way. Our work during the past year, therefore, has principally been maintaining in the best possible condition the temporary highways that are soon to be converted into high class pavements.

I wish to call to your attention the improvement made in the Kerens highway and the Trinity river bottom, also to the innumerable new bridges with wide roadway that have been constructed on all state highways in the county.

Practically every state highway in the county has been re-ditched and re-graded and our forces have worked faithfully and well to keep the state highways in the best possible condition and we feel that our efforts are recognized and appreciated by the people of our county.

O. R. FORD,
County Foreman, Navarro County.

COURT ACTION IN CHURCH ROW HAS BEEN POSTPONED

BOTH SIDES AGREE TO POSTPONEMENT; WILL USE TABERNACLE AT OWN RISK

DALLAS, July 11.—(AP)—The hearing set for today in Judge Towne Young's court to determine if an injunction restraining work on the Fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle here should be made permanent was continued indefinitely by agreement of both sides.

While it would be impossible for the church group to complete the tabernacle as matters now stand, there is nothing to prevent holding services in the partly-completed structure. The church people will do so at their own risk, however, as the building was condemned two days ago by the city building inspector.

The Rev. J. Earl Anderson, pastor of the church, who was jailed a week ago for failing to comply with Judge Young's injunction restraining work on the tabernacle, was released yesterday when he paid $100 fine and posted $1,000 bond that the injunction would be observed until the argument had been definitely settled in court.

Houston's Tallest Building is Bought By Moody-Seagraves

HOUSTON, July 10.—(AP)—Sale of Houston's tallest skyscraper, the Esperson building, was announced today. It was sold to the W. L. Moody III.-O. R. Seagraves interests for $5,003,000 to be paid in 23 annual payments. Mrs. Mellie Esperson Stewart, who sold the building, specified in the contract that it should retain its name in honor of her deceased husband, Neils Esperson.

The building was dedicated in 1926. It cost about $4,000,000, and rises 411 feet above the ground.

MRS. W. D. HAYNIE DIED AT RICE HOME TUESDAY EVENING

WELL KNOWN AND GREATLY BELOVED PHILANTHROPIST PASSES AWAY

RICE, July 11.—(Spl.)—Mrs. W. D. Haynie, aged 84, Central Texas philanthropist and one of the most liberal givers to Methodist institutions in Texas, died at her home here Tuesday evening about 6:30, after several years' of failing health. She is survived by three sisters; Mrs. J. A. McGee and Mrs. J. A. Lackey, of Rice, and Mrs. Henry Barkley of Ennis; and two brothers, C. M. Sessions and Dr. I. P. Sessions of Rockdale.

The funeral services will be conducted here Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Rice cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. A. D. Porter, Mineral Wells, assisted by Rev. H. C. Bowman, pastor of the Rice Methodist church, and Rev. A. W. Hall, presiding elder of the Corsicana district.

Pallbearers will be stewards of the Rice Methodist church—V. T. Swafford, S. W. South, L. M. Barrington, J. D. Heather, J. R. Clark, W. R. Smith, Scott Swafford and A. C. Hervey.

Mrs. Haynie suffered a broken hip about two years ago and has been seldom able to leave her sickbed since that time. Her husband, W. D. Haynie, pioneer banker and farmer, died in 1906, and no children survive.

Before her marriage Mrs. Haynie was Miss Viola Sessions. She was born in Mississippi in 1844, but the family moved to Texas in 1846, living for a short time in Lancaster, Dallas county, before making their permanent home in Navarro county in 1847. She spent the remainder of her life in this county, practically within sight of Rice. She was the daughter of Izaak Boone Sessions and Emma Spurlins Sessions.

Mrs. Haynie, like her late husband, was filled with the pioneer spirit and throughout her married life was an able companion to Mr. Haynie with her courage and inspiration. After his death in 1906 she assumed the active management of a large estate that has been more than doubled under her capable management since that time, and was well known as a capable business woman with administrative qualities and ability to judge vital facts of any proposal.

One of the greatest pleasures of Mrs. Haynie's life was her ability to help her fellowman and assist in the forwarding of worthy causes. She has always been very liberal in her contributions to local and religious projects.

Reared a Methodist, she was one of the first contributors to Southern Methodist University, and since that time her contributions to that institution have more than passed the $50,000 mark. She erected the Haynie Memorial church at Rice at a cost of $50,000 and has recently completed the building furnishing of a $5,000 parsonage.

She has always been a liberal contributor to the Corsicana Y. M. C. A., and since its opening in 1915 has been one of its most loyal supporters. The Methodist Hospital at Fort Worth, the First Methodist church of Corsicana and many other institutions have felt her benevolence. She has participated in the building of several other churches, and has been interested in many foreign mission enterprises.

Officials of Southern Methodist University at Dallas said Wednesday that she was one of the most loyal friends of the University. Haynie avenue, one of the principal boulevards in the University Park Addition, was named in her honor.

She owned considerable property in Navarro county, and was a stockholder in several business concerns in Corsicana.

Few women in Navarro county were more loved than Mrs. Haynie and her friends are numbered by the hundreds.

In respect to the late Mrs. W. D. Haynie, the Corsicana National Bank will be closed Thursday between the hours of 10 a. m. and noon, at which time the funeral will be held in Rice.

The late W. D. Haynie, husband of the deceased, was one of the charter organizers of the Corsicana National Bank and Mrs. Haynie was a large stockholder in this financial institution.

SLAYING OF FOUR PEOPLE IS COMPLETE MYSTERY TO POLICE

EDMONTON, Alta., July 11.—(AP)—Slaying of Mrs. Eunice Booher, wife of a prosperous Manville farmer, her 25-year-old son and two hired men was a complete mystery to police today. Vernon Booher, another son, told officers he discovered the bodies Monday night when he hurried to the house on hearing shorts shortly after he had left to bring in the cows.

In the dining room, he said, he found the body of his mother, shot from behind. In the kitchen was the body of his brother Fred, shot through the mouth and back.

Rushing to the barn to seek assistance from the hired men, he said he found Bill Roszak, one of the hands, dead in the barn, a bullet hole in the back of his head. In the bunkhouse was the body of the other, Gabriel Goronby, shot through the mouth.

The husband and father, Henry Booher, was at a farm two miles away at the time of the shooting and two daughters of the slain woman, Dorothy and Alberta, were at Manville practicing basketball.

The only clue found was an empty shell from a .303 rifle, which police think was the weapon used by the slayer.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY MAY BE ABLE BUILD SOME NEW BUILDINGS

AUSTIN, July 10.—(AP)—President H. Y. Benedict of Texas University was informed in an opinion Tuesday from Attorney General Claude Pollard that the University can pledge the interest from its permanent fund to take care of any debt created for construction of new buildings and improvements.

This means the University regents can carry out their tentative plan of borrowing about $3,000,000 for permanent structures to supplant the present wooden shacks, and use the permanent fund interest to retire the debt. The permanent fund, now swelled to some $8,000,000, largely from West Texas oil royalties, cannot be used for building purposes.

The opinion was in response to a query from President Benedict as to whether a law providing that the permanent fund interest could be pledged for 15 years for a debt, is constitutional. General Pollard said it is. He held that the interest constitutes a fund separate and distinct from all other funds of the state, and is not affected by the constitutional provision limiting appropriations to two-year periods. The fund is set aside for university improvements and may be used in such manner as the legislature may deem wise to meet the constitutional obligation to "establish, organize, maintain and support a university of the first class," Mr. Pollard said.

He further held that creation of a debt to be paid off from the income of the permanent fund is not in violation of the constitutional limitation on state debts. This limitation applies only to debts that would have to be liquidated by levying a taxes, he ruled, pointing out that the university interest fund is clearly not in that class.

"The constitution makers having segregated the interest on the permanent fund as the only means of providing these buildings must necessarily have contemplated giving to the legislature and through the legislature to the board of regents, ample discretion in the use of this particular fund for these purposes," Mr. Pollard said.

"The interest itself on this fund is not sufficient and probably never will be sufficient to provide for the erection of adequate buildings to meet the growth of an institution which has ever been the ideal of the people of Texas."

SAUNDERS FREED CHARGE OF USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—(AP)—Two indictments charging Clarence Saunders of using the mails to defraud through the sale of stock of the Piggly-Wiggly corporation, were dismissed here today by United States Districy Attorney Louis H. Bruer.

The indictments against the originator of the Piggly-Wiggly system, which have been on the docket of the local federal court for three years, were dismissed following an order from Washington to nolle prossee the cases. The order followed closely on the sudden death of Horace L. Dyer, special persecutor for the government against Saunders, who was buried last Friday.

One indictment was returned three years ago when Saunders was arrested in Tennessee. Application for his removal to this jurisdiction was denied on the ground that the indictment was insufficient.

A subsequent grand jury voted a new indictment charging the same fact and offense. The government hoped to arrest Saunders on this indictment on one of his prequent visits to St. Louis, but so far as can be learned, Saunders has not come under the jurisdiction of this court since he became aware of the return of the first indictment.

RASKOB'S RISE TO FINANCIAL STRENGTH HAS BEEN METEORIC

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)— In 1900 John J. Raskob, new chairman of the democratic national committee, was a $5 a week clerk. In March, 1928, a few optimistic words spoken about the automobile industry by the same man brought about the first 4,600,000 share market the New York stock exchange had ever seen.

He is 49 years old of Alsatian and Irish descent, father of 12 children, an outspoken opponent of prohibition and an intimate friend of Governor Smith.

He is rated the financial genius of the General Motors corporation and is vice-president of the E. I. DuPont De Nemous company. He is a Catholic, a charter member of the American chapter of the Knights of Malta and is listed in "Who's Who" as a republican. He is chairman of the American Olympic committee.

Recently when asked to ascribe the reason for his financial success, he said: "It may have been luck but who knows? What I do believe is that there is a divinity that shapes our ends. I'm positive that it has been so in my case."

He is against prohibition because he believes it breeds intolerance, "The menace of prohibitory laws," he said, "is the spirit of intolerance underlying their adoption, and this is bound to result in rebellion." He is a director of the association against the prohibition amendment. He is not a drinking man, he said, recently, but "that does not mean I never take a drink."

Although listed as a republican Mr. Raskob said he had never been identified with either political party and had voted both ways, twice for Woodrow Wilson and once for Calvin Coolidge. He attended the democratic national convention at Houston but only as an observer.

MARKET REACTION CONTINUED TODAY ON N. Y. EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 12—(AP)—The reaction in stock prices, which set in yesterday, was resumed at the opening of today's market. Midland Steel Products Preferred, which broke 18 points yesterday, dropped 4 1-2 on the opening sale today. Wright Aeronautical opened 4 1-2 points lower and Curtiss, International Combustion and several others declined a point or so. Radio opened unchanged and General Motors showed a small fractional loss on the first transaction.

The sharp break yesterday, the severest of any single session since July, 1914, brought about widespread liquidation by frightened investors and traders at the opening of today's market.

Some efforts was made to support the market leaders in the early trading, but the rallies encountered increased offerings, and the general list was soon headed downward again. Radio, after advancing fractionally to 165 3-4, dropped to 162 1-8 before the end of the first half hour, and General Motors slipped from an early high of 191 to 188 1-8. Wright Aeronautical extended its loss to 5 1-2 points and Kelly-Springfield 8 percent preferred, Adams Express and Texas & Pacific each dropped about 5 points.

Foreign Exchanges opened steady, with Sterling Cables quoted unchanged at $4.86 3-8.

New Orleans Cotton Quiet.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—The cotton market was quiet in early trading and prices drifted aimlessly, displaying no definite trend. Liquidation of the long interest in Liverpool was responsible for an opening loss of 12 to 18 points here and the market continued to ease off after the start until October dropped to 21.47 and December to 21.44, or 20 points down from yesterday's close.

Bearish Liverpool cables were the only apparent influence behind trading, and at the end of the first hour, the market was quiet at or near the lows.

The decline extended to 21.41 for October and 21.28 for December, or 26 points under the previous close. Some selling on the forecast for better weather in the western belt added to the easiness.

When the forecast for the eastern belt was issued, however, it indicated continued showers in that section where moisture is not needed. A fairly good demand developed and October recovered to 21.61 and December to 21.58, or 20 points over the lows but still 6 points below yesterday's close.

New York Cotton Easy.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 20 to 27 points, October selling off to 22.01 under realizing, combined with local selling inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables and better private crop advices from some parts of the belt.

Buying on unfavorable features in the weather news, however, caused rallies of a few points in early trading. The volume of business tapered off toward the end of the first hour, prices holding fairly steady at net declines of 18 to 20 points.

The early decline carried the market off to 21.96 for October, or about 28 to 35 points net lower on the active positions. There was considerable liquidation as well as local and New Orleans selling, but the offerings seemed to taper off at this figure and the market steadied on the outlook for further showers in the south. The demand became more active on the eastern belt details, which evidently showed more rain than expected by some of the earlier sellers. By mid-day October had rallied to 22.13 or about 17 points from the lowest.

IN MEMORY OF T. C. BEASLEY

On Monday, April 2, 1928, the death angel claimed the spirit of T. C. Beasley, the beloved husband of Mrs. Lida Beasley. He had been sick for some time and all was done for him that loving hands could do. Oh, how hard it was to give him up, but God knew best and carried him home to rest. While our hearts are sad and lonely, we know he is sweetly resting in the arms of Jesus. He was a member of the Baptist church. We have no doubt but that he is at rest. If he had lived until December he would have been fifty-two years of age.

He was married to Miss Lida Selmon, Sept. 4, 1901. It was so sad and heartrendering to stand by the gray casket seeing the broken-hearted wife and children mourn over the one that was so near and dear to them. The loved ones have the sympathy of this community. God help them in this had hour.

He is survived by his wife, ten children, three sisters, four brothers and a host of other relatives and friends.

His remains were laid to rest in the Bazette cemetery. Funeral services were conductd by Rev. Everhart of Kerens.

Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe on his gentle breast,
There by his love o'er shaded
Sweetly my soul shall rest.

And God shall wipe away all tears
From their eyes and there shall be,
No more death, neither sorrow nor crying.
Neither shall there be any more pain.

God in his wisdom has recalled,
The bloom his love had given,
And though the body moulders here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
Where love has bound the heart,
'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words,
We must forever part.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life has fled,
And in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

the Houston and Texas Central railroad in 1871. The family settled in the Hester community where they resided until several years ago when they moved to Corsicana where they now reside. She was the daughter of Perry and Harriett McCammon and was married to Mr. Fluker sixty-one years ago.

Mrs. Fluker was well known throughout Navarro county where she has hundreds of friends who will be genuinely grieved to learn of her death. She was a consistent Christian who practiced her religion in everyday life and the happiness of others was her main source of pleasure. Of sturdy pioneer stock she took an important part in the early history of Navarro county and was prominent in the religious and social circles of her community for many years.

Another sad incident in connection with the death of Mrs. Fluker is that fact that one of her sons, Brady Fluker, is reported critically ill at his home in Richland with little hope held for his recovery.

Old Damascus' Great Hour Was In Experience of One Man

Earth's Oldest Living City, Crowded With Famous Incidents, Is Best Known for Vision There Received By Saul of Tarsus—Some Significances

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Damascenes tell as their favorite story of civic pride, that the Prophet Mohammed, thirteen centuries ago, looked upon the loveliness of this "port of the desert," and then turned away; lest in the enjoyment of Damascus he should lose his taste for Paradise. This peerless city was ancient when Abraham got his steward there; it is the oldest living city on earth, and human history has often had high hours there. One of the most dramatic stories I have ever heard was Colonel Lawrence's recital to me of the scenes attendant upon his entrance into Damascus at the head of the Arab army, after the defeat of the Turks.

All down the ages Damascus has been great. But the most memorable of all the events enacted within or about the city's walls was the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, archpersecutor of Christians. Comparatively few persons in Damascus knew about it at the time; for the profoundest experiences of the world are not attended by publicity. This was only one man's personal transaction with God. It was the illumination of a single soul.

Yet when the hate-filled fury of this anti-Christian zealot was dramatically arrested, as he entered the city, by a celestian vision which threw him prostrate and dazzled him into blindness, something happened which has had a greater effect upon human history than any of the conquests of Damascus throughout the millenniums. That day there was reborn a mighty soul, the greatest individual agency for the propogation of Christianity. Who can foretell the consequences when a single soul sees God and receives its great commission?

Battling Over a Warrior.

This man, Paul, doughty warrior of Christ, has himself, become a modern battleground. Criticism of the New Testament is concentrated on Paul. He is the great obstacle to the contemporary cult of natural religion and intellectualism. The fashion is to sneer at him as something added to the simple Gospel; for it was in the crucible of Paul's master mind that Christianity was formulated into a system. He was the philosophical and spiritual interpreter of Christ. His influence upon the Christian thought of the ages has been deep and determinative. He was the first to write the records that have gone into the New Testament canon, and he produced more of that book than any other writer. Paul's profound mind, and his intense consciousness of Christ have been major forces in making Christianity Christo-centric.

If they could only get rid of Paul, crusaculators of the Gospel would make more headway. So long as Paul stands, the Cross stands; the resurrection stands; and the church stands, with the risen, living Saviour supreme. Moreover, so long as Paul holds his place of primacy among the inspired writers, Christianity remains unshaken by an ethical moral force. His penetrating thought set forth the inextricable union of holy living with discipleship of Christ.

This present generation gets more help from Paul, in preserving the purity of youth, the sanctity of the home, and the safety of society, than from all the legislation that is being enacted. Because Paul's teachings accord with those of Christ and because he dared set down the uttermost word given him by the Spirit, this one-time persecutor remains the world's chief interpreter of Christianity. The vague new theologies, which find their source in thin modern ideas, rather than in the explicit teachings of Scripture, blow in vain against this teacher, whose feet are planted upon the rock Christ Jesus.

The Man Who Was on His Way.

It is easier to "right-about-face" a man who is going somewhere than to set in motion one who sits supine and indifferent. Saul was aggressively on his way to do something when he was turned completely about to do something better. There is no precedent in Scripture for the fashion of coddling milksop Christians. The Master called hardy, virile personalities to be His chosen apostles; and Paul, the last of this special group, was even more forceful than robust Peter or fisherman John.

A curious fact characterized the conversion of Paul; and one fraught with deep meanings. He was an aristocrat and a scholar, with a notably philosophical bent. Of all men alive, he, it would seem, should have been won to a new allegiance by an appeal to his reason. His logical mind should have been convinced. The way with him should have been the way of the schools. Yet this great thinker, this "superior" person, was converted by a vision—a personal experience of Jesus Christ. He saw Christ; and that rapt vision transformed the character and direction of his life.

Is there not here a penetrating suggestion for our era of "intellectual" preaching? Our sophisticated generation is to be won, if at all, by a clear vision of Jesus. Paul understood this later: and his method and principle was "I preach Christ, and Him crucified." The power that changes things in individual lives and in communities, is the power of a clearly-seen Saviour. In a larger sense than the wise man of the Old Testament meant, "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Every teacher's prayer should be that of the Greeks at Jerusalem. "We would see Jesus."

"Lord Jesus, make Thyself to me A living bright reality."

The Lord's Many Legions.

Were there space, it would be to endeavor to trace the influences which prepared Paul for his vision. First among them was Stephen's martyrdom. Then came that long journey from Jerusalem to Damascus, up the old road so often trodden by Jesus, and through Galilee and along the memory-crowded lake. A student of Bible geography may trace these suggestive scenes traversed by Paul.

After having been prostrated by his vision of Jesus—"Some men never look up until they are thrown flat on their backs"—Paul was blind, and had to be led into the city. There a new personality enters the story. As God was preparing Paul for Damascus, so He was also preparing Damascus for Paul. To a disciple named Ananias came the amazing word that he should call on Paul and restore his sight. Ananias was startled, and protested, even suggesting—so fond are we all of telling the Omniscient God His business!—that the Lord did not know what a dangerous character this young Pharisee was. But Ananias, like Paul, was obedient to his heavenly vision.

We may glimpse the sort of Christian Ananias was by his greeting to the ex-persecutor as "Brother Saul." Already the proud Pharisee was in a new fellowship a "good society" which was henceforth to be his company all over the known world. And Paul immediately went all the way with the friends of Christ, into baptism and into active witness-bearing in the Damascus synagogues.

We ponder the picture of the diverse forces at the command of God. He who gave the vision to Paul also gave another to Ananias. God is always working in many ways in many places at the same time. We marvel at the Divine strategy and resourcefulness exercised in transforming Paul the persecutor into Paul the apostle.

PLANS BEING MADE CARRY OPPOSITION THROUGHOUT STATE

DALLAS, July 11. (AP)—The fight to carry Texas into the republican column in the November election will be launched in every precinct of this state under the probable direction of an executive committee to be chosen here July 17 at a meeting of forces opposed to Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Preliminary plans of organization of the state were discussed here yesterday at a meeting of leaders of that group of democrats who have declared they will not support the New York governor and will use every means to defeat him.

Among those attending the preliminary conference were former State Senator V. A. Collins, Oscar B. Colquitt, twice governor of Texas, and the Rev. C. H. Booth, presiding elder of the Fort Worth district of the Methedist Episcopal Church, South. Mr. Collins and Mr. Colquitt were leaders of the constitutional democrats who waged a bitter fight before the Houston convention for a Texas delegation instructed against Governor Smith and who were defeated by Governor Dan Moody and his backers of more moderate dry views.

Would Support Hoover.

Senator Collins stated after the conference that it was decided to recommend to the meeting July 17 that a state executive committee composed of one member from each senatorial district of Texas be created, and that a chairman and a campaign manager be named to direct activities of this committee. Others who attended the conference said resolutions urging voters to support Herbert Hoover for president probably would be presented to the July 17 meeting.

"Aggressive, energentic men will be named on this committee to take charge of the campaign," Mr. Collins said. "The campaign will be fought out in every precinct to carry the state against Al Smith."

Democrats Ready For Fight.

Meanwhile old line democrats awaited news from New York of national campaign plans before beginning the battle which their leaders have said will be waged to roll up the normal democratic majority in November. Before leaving for New York, National Committeeman Jed C. Adams stated that the democratic regulars would start a vigorous campaign soon to record a victory for Governor Smith in Texas and to crush the bolters. He scathingly denounced candidates for high state offices who have declared they will run on the democratic ticket but will do everything possible to defeat the New York governor. These include Mrs. Edith Wilmans and Judge William Hawkins, candidates for governor, and Thomas B. Love, candidate for lieutenant-governor and a former national committeeman from Texas.

A movement to bar names of these candidates from the democratic ballot to be used in the state primary July 28 has gained some headway, despite a strong fight being waged to check it. The executive committee of Cameron county notified the bolting candidates that their names would not be allowed on the ballot, and stuck to the decision after Mr. Love told the committee at a special hearing that its action was illegal.

Mrs. Wilmans announced late last night that she would take steps to "invalidate" tickets in counties wherein her name was barred from the ballot, and said she was confident of defeating Governor Moody by a huge majority.

POSTMASTER TELLS OF FIVE PER CENT OF SALARY GOING TO REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

ATLANTA, Ga., July 11.—(AP)—Testimony that he received contributions from postal employes and used the money for expense of county, district and state Republican conventions was given before the senate patronage inquiry today by G. F. Flanders of Swainsboro.

Flanders, who was patronage referee in the Twelfth Georgia District, told the committee he never had sold or bought a postmastership but "could sell every one of them if I wanted to do so."

Asserting that he was a Republican in national politics and a Democrat in local and state affairs, Flanders said he "was not going to allow any party to lash me into voting for just anybody."

"What did you do with the money you got from postmasters?" asked Senator Cyrus Locher, Ohio.

"I used it to defray the expenses at our conventions. I gave some to Ben Davis."

Ben Davis, former national committeeman, received about $200 from him, Flanders said.

Senator William J. Harris of Georgia called Davis to the stand to inquire about Flanders' gift of $200.

"I accounted for that, Senator," Davis declared.

"I testified Flanders gave me $00 at the state convention for convention purposes."

E. A. Giddings, Atlanta, former postmaster at Does, Ga., testified a negro who claimed to be the county Republican chairman, came to him a few days after he resigned his office and asked for a contribution.

Giddings said he had been postmaster at Does for seven years.

"Were you ever called on for a contribution before the negro approached?" asked Senator Brookhart.

"No," replied Giddings.

The witness said the negro told him he ought to contribute if he "intended to stay in."

ATLANTA, July 11.—(AP)—With few witnesses remaining to be heard here, the senate committee investigating alleged irregularities in administration of post office patronage by the republican organization in Georgia was ready to transfer its activities temporarily to Washington.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican, Iowa, said the Georgia hearing would be closed during the day and that the committee next would meet in Washington to hear Postmaster General New before proceeding with the hearing in other states where complaints similar to those in Georgia have arisen.

Meanwhile, with Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt, assistant U. S. attorney general, en route to Biloxi, Miss., to ask grand jury investigation of charges in that state, the committee said it would watch the proceedings closely and follow up with its own inquiry soon.

A few postmasters were among the witnesses summoned to appear before the committee yesterday. One related how he had paid five per cent of his salary to the state central comittee. Another man declared he was asked $500 for a reappointment for his wife as postmistress at Ball Ground, Ga.

S. N. Thompson of East Point was the postmaster who said he paid regularly five per cent of his income until a year ago. He paid it willingly because he "belived it the duty of an officeholder to support his party," he said, but admitted that he did not think a postmaster could hold his job unless he did contribute. A party "had to be run like any other business," he said.

Miss Esther McCollum, postmistress at Conyers, Ga., told the committee she was a republican and believed it her duty to contribute to party funds. She said she had contributed about $100 annually but declared she never had been assessed or solicited.

Roscie Pickett, chairman of the state central commimttee, occupied the stand most of yesterday's session, asserting that he knew nothing of any alleged plan for assessments and had not collected or authorized the collection of any funds. So far as he knew, money received by the treasurer came as voluntary donations.

ATLANTA, July 11.—(AP)—The purpose of the senate investigation into alleged irregularities in republican postoffice patronage is not to cause removal of postmasters who have contributed money to secure their appointments, This was stated, emphatically by Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, chairman, at the opening of today's hearing here.

Federal Court Probe.

BILOXI, Miss., July 11.—(AP)—A special term of federal district court will convene here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, presumably to investigate disposition of federal patronage in Mississippi. Judge Edwin R. Holmes of Yazoo City, who ordered the special term, arrived in Biloxi this morning, shortly before Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, who will assist the grand jury in its investigation. Mrs. Willebrandt came here from Atlanta, where a senate committee is investigating alleged sale of postmasterships in that state.

Court attaches said approximately 15 witnesses would be examined daily until next Tuesday, when the session is supposed to adjourn. There is a possibility, court officials said, that findings of the grand jury may be withheld from the public until the regular September term of court.

Postmasters Called.

JACKSON, Miss., July 11.—(AP)—Subpoenas have been issued from the United States marshal's office for the Southern District to about 160 Mississippi postmasters, chiefly Democrats, to appear before the federal grand jury at Biloxi, and give testimony concerning the manner in which they received their appointments, it was learned here today.

W. A. Whyte and H. A. Lewis of Dallas were in the city Tuesday, attending to business.

HAWKINS CRITICIZES WILCOX FOR REMARKS ON CERTAIN BOLTERS

AUSTIN, July 10. —(AP)— Judge William E. Hawkins, candidate for governor, in a statement Tuesday, criticized the publicly announced personal stand taken against him and other anti-Smith bolters running for state office, by state democratic chairman, D. W. Wilcox of Georgetown.

The statement was in rejoinder to a recent one by Wilcox expressing an official opinion as chairman that bolters names could not be carried from the July primary ballot, and a private opinion that no democrat should vote for candidates not willing to support the whole ticket from national nominees on down.

"The general effect of his statement practically concedes," Hawkins said, "that there is no authority anywhere for striking my name from the ballot on the ground that I refuse to vote for Al Smith. Correspondingly, he, officially, ought not to discriminate among lawful state candidates, equally and alike entitled to a place on the ballot."

HEAVY FIRE LOSS SUFFERED BY OIL CITY IRON WORKS

Fire said to have spread from a pile of sawdust and floor sweep, gutted the machine shop of the Oil City Iron Works about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, and threatened the office and supply room of the establishment before it was brought under control.

The fire was discovered by an iceman who saw the blaze more than a block away and turned in the alarm. Intense heat on the inside of the sheet iron structure hampered the fire fighters in their efforts to reach the main blaze.

Loss on the building will reach $4,000 with a possible increase over this figure from damaged machinery. Insurance of $3,000 was carried on the building and supplies. Some water damage was reported on the supplies and in the office of the company.

J. S. Oliver of Houston was in the city Wednesday.

J. L. West of Fort Worth spent Wednesday in the city.
